

FOUR BENNETT RACE BALLOONS
LAND IN GEORGIA

Present Indications Are That International Contest Has Been Won by R. G. Hill.

VICTORY IS SECOND FOR UNITED STATES

Winner Comes Down at Baxley—Others Land at Waverly Hall, Adrain and Fort Valley.

Detroit, September 12.—(AP)—With all of the entrants in the annual Gordon Bennett balloon race landed safely tonight, indications were that the United States entry, piloted by R. G. Hill, of Detroit, had won the race. Hill's balloon was brought down at Baxley, Ga., several miles farther from the starting point here than any of the other entries.
Only a few miles short of the point reached by the Detroit, were grouped three other balloons, the Lafayette, French entry; the Goodyear VI, an other United States entry, and the Barmen, Germany's representative.
Land in Georgia.

The Lafayette landed at Waverly Hall, the Barmen at Fort Valley, and the Goodyear VI at Adrain, all Georgia points.

The remainder of the fifteen entries were strung out through the Carolinas north as far as Sugar Island in Lake Erie, off Sandusky, Ohio.

The balloons and the landing places follow:

The Dux, Italy, Newberry, S. C.
The Bee, England, Randolph, Va.
Paris-Bruxelles, France, Dunn,
N. C.
U. S. Army, York, S. C.
Halvina, Swiss, Statesville, N. C.
Wallonie, Belgium, Greenville, S. C.
Brundenburg, Germany, Sugar Island, Lake Erie.

Belgica, Belgium, near Syracuse,
N. Y.

Rice, Italy, Cleveland county, N. C.
Hispania, Spain, Entwistle, S. C.
Munster, Germany, Simpson's Ferry, near Columbia, S. C.

Hill Believed Victor.

Although the winner of the race will not be named officially until a final checkup and inspection of the balloon photographs is made by the International Aeronautical association in Washington, there is little doubt that Hill and his co-pilot, A. G. Schlosser have won a leg on his historical Bennett trophy.

The award is based alone on distance from the starting point, and the fact that the Detroit was in the air longer than the other entries does not enter into the calculations.

The distance traversed by the Detroit is approximately 800 miles by air line, far short of the distance record for the event. The record, 1,358 miles, was set up by Maurice Bessime, French pilot, in 1920 when he took his balloon from Stuttgart, Germany, to Moscow, Russia.

However, the distance attained was considered very good by promoters of the race, in view of the recalcitrant winds prevailing at the start Saturday afternoon. The work of the pilots in maneuvering their bags due south from here in the face of southeasterly winds and thereby avoiding the Atlantic ocean, was considered a remarkable achievement of ballooning skill.

Second U. S. Victory.

The victory of the United States entry marked the second consecutive year that America had won the event.
W. T. Van Orman won a leg on the trophy last year at Antwerp when he distanced competitors by taking his bag from there to Solvberg, Sweden.

The trophy at present is held by Belgium and goes to the country which wins the event for three successive years. Hill's victory will give the United States two legs on the cup and an American victory next year permanent possession.

The race got under way here Saturday in a driving rainstorm and as the balloons were waited over the low-

Man Shoots Self
When Former Wife
Spurns New Plea

T. B. Stephens, 30, Ends Futile Telephone Talk For Reconciliation With Fatal Pistol Shot.

WIFE FINDS BODY
IN POOL OF BLOOD

Couple, Divorced Last February, Lived On Same Street; Wife Heard Shot, She Tells Police.

Thomas B. Stephens, 30, of 963
Katherine avenue, shot and killed himself early Monday afternoon, immediately following a telephone conversation with his estranged wife, in which she denied his pleas for reconciliation, according to the story related by J. B. Johnson, who resided in the same house with Stephens, and who discovered the body stretched out on a lounge, the head of the dead man leaning against the telephone stand.
The pistol was found in a pool of blood on the floor near by.

"If you won't come back, then God bless you," were the parting words of Stephens to his wife after his plea for reconciliation was denied and just before firing the bullet that closed the final chapter of his life.

Mrs. Stephens lives directly across the street from her estranged husband. She told police she had heard the report of an explosion over the telephone, but assumed it to be an automobile backfiring.

A note found in the pocket of the dead man read, "Goodbye, everybody, I can't stand it any longer." The pocketbook, containing the note, also had in it two union cards, indicating that Stephens was a member of the street car electrical workers' organization.
He married Mrs. Stephens, who is 27 years old and who was Miss Leola Ayers, on December 14, 1924. Last February Mrs. Stephens divorced him, she stated. Mrs. Stephens said that the grounds for her divorce were non-support and the possession of an uncontrollable temper on the part of her husband.

Mrs. Stephens said that she had refused attempts of her husband to effect a reunion. She said she had been living at 964 Kirkwood avenue for about six weeks, her husband following her into the neighborhood and obtaining a room at the house across the street. Last Sunday night he

8 JURORS NAMED FOR DUVALL TRIAL

Fixed Opinion of Prospective Peers Leads To Many Being Stricken
From Eligibility Lists.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 12.—
(AP)—Fixed opinion of prospective jurors today impeded progress in the trial of Mayor John L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act.

When court adjourned eight jurors held men who had passed the first examination made by defense attorneys.
Nineteen others had been excused for cause or for personal reasons and ap-ear Judge C. C. Shirley, of the Marion county criminal court, ordered another venue of 50 names to be drawn.

The specific charge against the mayor is that he promised William H. Armitage, republican political leader, the privilege of naming two persons to the board of public works and also to select the city engineer in turn for his support in the last campaign.
Duvall also is charged with having failed to list a $10,000 campaign contribution for Armitage.

"I felt badly when I stood there beside her grave," said the young man
for whom a nationwide search was made and who was finally found in Seattle, Wash., after he had sold his automobile and been traced by its engine numbers. "But I wasn't going to cry before the state's attorney."

His only opportunity to get out of jail is by a writ of habeas corpus, and whether such action would be taken his father, Dr. H. C. Hill, did not say. A new attorney, Arthur Shea, of Streator, has been added to the Hill staff.

Russell O. Hanes, state's attorney, is busy with the trial of Ray Zarnesi, of Ottawa, who is accused of killing his uncle, and announced he would have nothing to say about the Hill case until the grand jury meets October 10. Harry is being held on a coroner's mittimus and on complaint of William Robb, chief of police at Streator.

POWER COMPANY
FUND NECESSARY
ON VIADUCTS JOB

Leaders Seek Equitable Agreement on Proposed Contribution for Both
City and Company.

Proposal to construct the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts without a contribution of $400,000, from the Georgia Power company hit a snag Monday, when a statement by Frank Neely, chairman of the Atlanta bond commission, showed this would be impossible since an agreement between the city and railroads, over whose tracks the new bridges would extend, provides that all funds needed to completely finance the projects and a reserve to pay property damages must be available before work is started.

Chief of Construction William A.
Hansell estimated the cost of erection of the bridges and other expenses incident to their construction at $1,925,000 without any reserve for damages. The total money available exclusive of the $400,000 contribution is $1,930,000 if the railroads are willing to give $430,000 they have promised.

Under the agreement the railroads would not be willing or obligated to give the $430,000 or permit depression of tracks or work of construction to be begun unless the damage fund, estimated at approximately $400,000, is available.

Committee Meets.

At a special meeting of the viaduct construction committee Monday morning no action was taken on the proposal of the company to make the $400,000 contribution with a proviso that it be protected from what it termed

"unfair" competition in the traction field in the city.

The bridge committee of city council will hold a special session at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Announcements were Monday that the committee this afternoon will consider only "sequence of operations," which will be followed in erection of the projects. But rumors were that a compromise agreement between the committee and the power company also may be up for consideration. Mr.
Hartsfield could not be reached at a late hour Monday night for a statement.

Walter F. Schulz, of Memphis, now busily engaged in preparation of working drawings for the improvements, will attend the session this afternoon, but detailed plans have not yet been completed and therefore will not come up for consideration.
C. A. Smith and C. G. Adair will represent the company at the meeting tonight.

Streator Youth Again Insists
He Did Not Slay
His Mother.

Ottawa, Ill., September 12.—(AP)— Rushed from the Pacific coast where he was arrested in connection with the death of his mother, questioned in the dim light cellar at the edge of the shallow grave where her body was found, and then locked up in the county jail, Harry Hill steadfastly maintained his innocence today.

He did not kill his mother, the divorcee wife of a wealthy Streator Ill. physician, he said, and could prove it when the time came.

"I felt badly when I stood there beside her grave," said the young man
for whom a nationwide search was made and who was finally found in Seattle, Wash., after he had sold his automobile and been traced by its

Twelve In Party From Detroit To Land At Candler Field This Morning.

ALL-METAL FORD
PLANE IS VEHICLE

Trail-Blazing Flight Prior To Opening of Regular Air Passenger Service
On Route.

A tri-motor, all metal Ford plane, carrying officials of the Dixie and Northern air line from Detroit to Miami on a trail-blazing flight in connection with establishment of a regular commercial passenger air route, is scheduled to arrive in Atlanta at 11 o'clock this morning, according to a message received Monday by the chamber of commerce. A stop-over at Candler field for three hours is intended before the party hops off for Jacksonville.

The message, telegraphed by William C. Wakefield, president of the Dixie and Northern line, reads as follows: "All arrangements are completed. Our party will arrive in the big Ford plane at Atlanta on Tuesday, September 13, at 11 a. m. There will be twelve in the group and we will be with you three hours."

Entertainment Plans.

Plans for a reception and entertainment of the trail-blazers during their stop-over here have been completed by the aviation committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.
The entire committee, of which G.
C. Bowden is chairman, will meet the plane on its arrival at Candler field.
The visitors will then be brought into the city in automobiles for luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the chamber of commerce.

The party of 12 making the flight includes, besides officials of the air line, representatives of the Ford motor company, Detroit newspapermen and representatives of the Detroit board of commerce.

On the local aviation committee are
G. C. Bowden, chairman; E. K. Large, vice chairman; James H. Blackburn, Carling Dinkler, Roy P. Goss, Holland B. Jenkins, E. C. Laird, Paul Lantz, Aubrey Milam, Henderson
Holliman and W. B. Hartsfield.

ARRIVES AT NASHVILLE AHEAD OF SCHEDULE.

Nashville, Tenn., September 12.—
(AP)—The Dixie and Northern Air Line company's trail-blazing Detroit to Jacksonville plane and its ten occupants rested here tonight after giving Nashville a foretaste of speedy schedules to come.

Arrival of the craft at 4 p. m., took by surprise a welcoming committee of chamber of commerce and 10th observation squadron members who had been expected to arrive at 10 p. m. The 200 miles hop from Cincinnati was made in two and three-quarter hours, an average speed of 97 miles an hour was noted by chronometer.

Two Aviators
Dare Flames
To Save Man

Wood and Schiller Appear in Hero Roles in Forest Fire.

Hollyrood, N. F., September 12.—
(AP)—Phil Wood and C. A. "Duke" Schiller, who interrupted in Newfoundland their projected flight from Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, England, today risked their lives in rescuing a blind man from a burning house at Kelligrews, 12 miles from here. Four farm houses were destroyed when a forest fire swept a large area near that settlement.

Wood and Schiller had left St.
Johns in mid-afternoon to drive to Harbor Grace, where they planned to refuel their plane, the Royal Windsor, in preparation for hopping off tomorrow for Old Orchard, Maine, on their return flight to Canada. A second automobile with newspapermen and photographers accompanied them.

At Kelligrews, 18 miles from the forest fire, the party came upon the forest fire. Members of the fire patrol commandeered the cars and their drivers to take them to the upper gulches where the blaze was at its height.
There in a thickly populated farming district, the flames driven by a 40-mile southwest wind, were encircling several farmhouses. Embers and smoke driving across the roadway made driving almost impossible.

The fliers and their companions decided to aid the settlers in saving their homes. Wood, Schiller and Eulogoni, a photographer, entered the burning residence of John Dwyer on being told that a blind member of the family had been cut off by the fire in an upper room. With get clothes tied about their faces the three made their way upstairs and brought the man out safely.

RUTH ELDER PLANE IS FORCED DOWN ON WHEELING TRIP

Airship Is Forced to Land in Ohio, After Trying Ten Hours To Reach
West Virginia.

Miss Elder Urged
To Abandon Flight

New York, September 12.—(AP)— An appeal to Miss Ruth Elder to abandon her proposed trans-Atlantic flight in a land plane was made today by the Aviation Service corporation, eastern representatives of the National Air Derby association, of Spokane, Wash.

The association sent telegrams to Miss Elder and the Wheeling, W.
Va., backers of her projected flight to Europe, urging that she forego the overwater hop and enter the non-stop air derby from New York to Spokane September 21.

Wheeling, W. Va., September 12.— (AP)—The monoplane American Girl, in which Miss Ruth Elder and George Haldeman plan to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight and which was due here from Tampa, Fla., for formal christening ceremonies this afternoon, has been forced down by lack of fuel at Portsmouth, Ohio, according to a telephone message received at Langin field, Moundsville, near here, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Haldeman and Miss Elder were making the trip here to consult back-ers of a proposed New York to Paris flight.

RUTH ELDER'S PLANE
BLOWN OUT OF COURSE.

The monoplane American Girl, which Miss Elder and George Haldeman plan to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight and which was due here from Tampa, Fla., for formal christening ceremonies this afternoon, has been forced down out of its course en route from Tampa, Fla., to Wheeling, W. Va.

The plane landed here at 5:30 p. m.
They left Tampa at 7:11 a. m., and had been in the air ten hours and 19 minutes.

The plane in which Miss Elder and Haldeman plan to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight, had been forced from its course after encountering adverse winds.

Haldeman and Miss Elder plan to refuel here and leave early in the morning for Wheeling. They said they had been blown from the course by strong winds and their gas supply was too low to attempt flying on to Wheeling. They said they also were hesitant of flying over unfamiliar country at night.

Effect Is Apparent.

Today the effect of the "censorship"
was apparent. At the usual press conference Lowman, usually ready to impart information, refused to discuss further details of his startling statement. He also waited a quarter of an hour until Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, could attend the conference.

Lowman's immediate superiors in the treasury department, although unwilling to condemn the assistant secretary publicly, intimated he talked too freely.

Secretary Mellon admitted he had discussed the "bribery" statement with Lowman both on Friday and Saturday, but refused to reveal the nature of the discussion.

Violation Claimed.

The secretary then said that he had no knowledge of the Lowman statement until after it was issued. He further admitted that Lowman had violated a regulation in releasing his statement without first submitting it to his immediate superiors.

Mellon also stated that he had no first hand information in the extent of bribery existing in the federal prohibition enforcement unit.

"There has been some, of course," he said, "and there probably is some today. Just how much there is I do not know."

Hereafter, it is understood, Low-man's speeches and statements will be carefully checked by either Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills or by Secretary Mellon before being made public.

in office six weeks, is taking his "censorship" sabbath, although refusing to confirm or deny the existence

Tunney's Social Secretary
Sues Fighter for $15,000

NEWS PROVES SHOCK TO CAULIFLOWER BOYS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, September 12.—Members of the cauliflower industry were knocked to the ropes when Gene Tunney busted into society in New York and repeated his social triumphs by being welcomed to exclusive circles in Lake Forest here. Today the plug-uglies of the fistic game, the "Dis an-Dat" boys of the profession, again took the count when they learned champion Tunney, has—did have a social secretary.

This dire news came when Thomas
M. Hale, of 300 Park avenue, New York, filed suit for $15,000 against Tunney, charging him with breach of contract. McHale claims Tunney dismissed him last spring, thus breaking a contract.

At his Lake Villa camp Tunney branded the suit and charges as "utterly ridiculous."

Lindbergh Opposes Ban
On Hazardous Air Trips

URGES USE OF MOST MODERN EQUIPMENT

Spokane, September 12.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has given to The Associated Press, in response to its request, the following statement in connection with recent developments in trans-oceanic flying:

"Trans-oceanic flights which have been accomplished demonstrate the feasibility of air transportation between continents. The trend of future development should be toward making such transportation practical under all conditions. The pioneering is over, but the perfecting is yet to be done.

"Regular trans-oceanic travel by air is no more practical today than transcontinental air lines were a decade and a half ago. Years of development and scientific research will be required before such regular intercontinental service can be successfully inaugurated. During this experimental period we may expect casualties. Yet to totally restrict hazardous flights would be placing a ban on scientific progress. Such restrictions would have the same effect on the future of transoceanic flying as the air mail would have experienced had it been abandoned by the government during the heavy casualty period of its pioneering days.

"The result of total restriction might be compared to the effect on aviation in general had legislation been enacted against all flying during the first few years following the flight of the Wright brothers when, hour for hour, any flight was more dangerous than trans-oceanic flying is at present.

"The pioneering and development of almost every advance in the air is marked by the loss of its explorers or its scientists. Yet they would be the last to request that the advancement of the cause for which they gave their lives be retarded.

"Hazardous flights should not be prohibited, but they should be attempted only after careful study by experienced personnel with the best of modern equipment and for a definite purpose. In the future expeditions should be organized and prizes offered under conditions which promote the development of safer travel.

"Safety of travel does not rest alone in the perfection of plane and engine, but equally important is a highly trained personnel, accurate weather information, and other navigational aids, including a means of radio communication for use in case of forced landings."

MELLON ADMITS
GAGGING DRY HEAD

Lowman Is Taking Muz-

Be Censored in Future.

BY ALFRED P. RECK.

Washington, September 12.—
(United News.)—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, customs and excise, has been effectively "muzzled" by an order restricting from the dust of ancient government regulations.

Although declining to comment on Lowman's outburst against bribery and crookedness in the prohibition enforcement unit, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon admitted that the old regulation which makes it imperative for a subordinate to submit public statements to the head of the department before issuing them, had been called to the attention of the dry chief.

Effect Is Apparent.

Today the effect of the "censorship"

King Boris Invades Wales' Domain in Quest of Bride

BY KEITH JONES.
United News Staff Correspondent.

London, September 12.—King Boris, of Bulgaria, the Prince of Wales' rival as a persistent bachelor, has arrived suddenly in Wales' home preserves on his hunt for a bride. Gossips, confused because they had picked Princess Martha of Sweden as Boris' future bride, are wondering whether the Bulgarian monarch has been reading newspaper stories about the number of girls who would like to marry Wales, and is planning to offer himself as a substitute. They would like to think up something about rivalry between the two royal bachelors, but Wales shows no signs of entering the contest. Several weeks ago King Boris left Sofia, his capital, on what was said openly to be a bride hunt. His bachelorhood, it has been hinted, is involuntary. It is said that he has been unlucky.

But this time, it was reported, King Boris was determined to find an occupant for the vacant throne beside him. He even traveled incognito—as Count Rilski—in order that the divinity that still hedges kings over here would not cramp his style. A meeting of European royalties representing several countries was reported to have been arranged in Switzerland at the time Boris was scheduled to be there to help him run over the list of eligibles. It was thought that Princess Martha of Sweden had been picked, though the fact that representatives of the Russian nobility were to be present caused gossips to hedge. Now Boris, or Count Rilski, has turned up at Denaston as the guest of Sir Kay Murg. It is said that he is still unmatched.

Experience of Thousands Proves Doctors Right

Famous Physicians Claim Blood Causes 90% Ailments; Recommend Iron As Best Blood Purifier.

Mineral-Tone 75% Iron—Natural Remedy.

When thousands of people, suffering from many different ailments, all find amazing relief through one great natural Iron Tonic, it is proof positive that famous physicians are right in pointing out that if your blood is weak, pale, anemic and lacking in iron, it becomes a disease-carrier instead of a germ-destroyer. They call attention to the fact that if the blood, which courses through the body 4,000 times a day is kept rich, red and healthy, it will eliminate poisons and keep you well and strong. They agree that iron is the greatest blood builder and purifier.

When you realize that Mineral-Tone is 75 per cent iron—that, in fact, one gallon of this natural remedy contains as much iron as a carload of spinach, which physicians highly recommend for its iron-content—then you can understand how Mineral-Tone brings about such marvelous results.

Mr. W. H. Camp, deacon in the Baptist Church of Liburnia, Ga., says indigestion and rheumatism gone in 30 days.

"Last winter I began suffering a great deal with my left arm and shoulder. It was very painful when I tried to work or move my arm. One of my friends told me I could be easily cured of stomach trouble and rheumatism by using Mineral-Tone."

In connection with the Mineral-Tone treatment best results will be obtained if you clear your system out thoroughly with Mineral-Tone tonic, which works naturally and easily, causing no discomfort. For sale by all druggists.

Homestead Faces Rigid Cleanup On Sunday Laws

Homestead, Fla., September 12.—

Caught between opposing wings of a battle over "Blue Sunday" laws, this city today faced threats of the "worst" or "best"—depending on the view—cleanup in its history. J. W. English, motion picture show proprietor, who appealed this morning from Mayor S. E. Livingston's fine of $50 for keeping his house open Sunday, is on one side. The Rev. C. N. Walker, of the Baptist church here, and the Rev. J. D. Murray, M. E. south, are on the other. All three of them declared war on slot machines, Sunday baseball and other alleged infractions of the Sabbath peace. English's threat hinges on outcome of his appeal. If allowed to operate he will be tolerant but, if closed, he will see to it that every other business prescribed by Sunday closing laws is made to feel his predicament, he said.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO CONSIDER COAL STRIKE IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Settlement in the near future of the coal strike in Illinois, affecting 72,000 men and 420 mines, was foreseen today in the appointment of a committee of nine operators to consider the situation.

Appointed after the operators had sent a report of their sub-committee, consisting of H. C. Perry and George Harrington, the committee of nine will report tomorrow morning. Although no decision was made regarding the consideration, or what the sub-committee had recommended, it was believed the operators were planning a counter-proposal to one offered by the miners. It was understood the offer of the miners, made on suggestion of John L. Lewis, international president, after the joint committee of two miners and two operators, had failed to reach an agreement, was for a return to work immediately on the Jacksonville agreement while a new commission of four took up the problem of settlement and reported not later than February 1. The operators are firm in their stand not to reopen unless cost of production can be cut.

CAT BANDIT FACES THREE TRUE BILLS

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—William E. Baker, Chicago's self-confessed "cat bandit," terrorist of scores of North Side women, was indicted on five counts by the grand jury shortly after noon today.

Authorities said Baker would plead guilty to the five charges of robbery with a gun and two charges of burglary when he appears in court for trial.

Following the testimony of witnesses in the five cases selected against Baker by the prosecution, he was held yesterday to grand jury in bonds totaling $250,000.

His wife, Mrs. Helen Baker, held on his charge of robbery from a vacation home in the Adirondacks, was released from jail today and allowed to sign her own bond of $1,000 when she appeared for hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

At Racine, Wis., speedy justice was meted out to a 28-year-old immigrant, Hugh Beattie, who sought to stimulate the "cat bandit." He was arrested Friday and sentenced today to serve from one to five years in the Waupun state prison for preying upon five Racine women.

NAVY IS ASKED TO HELP GUARD $2,000,000 IN RUM

Philadelphia, Pa., September 12.—(United News.)—Fearing that a $2,000,000 rum cargo seized with the mysterious rum runner Bulko would prove too tempting to hijackers, United States Attorney George W. Coles has announced that he will appeal to the United States navy to help guard the treasure fallen into the hands of custom men.

The mystery surrounding the ship was not diminished Monday when 15 men arrested in connection with its seizure Saturday were indicted on charges of $500 each and laughed at the hearings scheduled for them.

Failure of the rum runners to appear led to a heated argument between Coles and United States Commissioner Horace Manly, who accepted the cash bail.

Federal prohibition agents seized the vessel and men during transfer of its cargo to freight cars at Greenview Point on the Delaware river. The ship was being used to transport rum because its owners and captain escaped with all ship's papers.

ACTRESS, IN ANGER, WISHES DAD DEAD; HE DROPS, EXPIRES

Los Angeles, September 12.—(AP)—An altercation between Miss Carol Gilbert, who plays "mother" parts on the stage and screen, and her father, Charles Mortimer Gilbert, over the cooking of a plate of beans, followed by a "death wish" by the daughter, was climaxed here last night by the sudden death of the 80-year-old man. Miss Gilbert told the police that in the argument her father struck her in the face with his cane. "I wish you were dead," Miss Gilbert said she exclaimed. The aged man, she said, clutched his heart and fell to the floor. Miss Gilbert was hysterical when the police arrived. She was not held.

N. C. & St. L. Division To Be Awarded Banner For Coal Conservation

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, at its meeting at the Ansley hotel Wednesday, will present to employees of the Atlanta division a banner for excelling in the road's fuel conservation campaign during the month of June, 1927.

During this month, compared with the three previous months, the division saved 7,440 tons of coal, a decrease of 8.2 per cent, which is considered a remarkable record. At a luncheon served at 12:30 o'clock, speeches will be made by J. B. Hill, president, who will present service emblems to employees who have spent ten or more years with the road; W. G. Templeman, general manager, and H. F. Smith, vice president and traffic manager. Success of the coal conservation campaign is largely attributed to work of E. A. Hibbett, superintendent of the Atlanta division.

Miami, Fla., September 12.—(AP)—Warrant for the arrest of Wm. R. Phillips, editor and publisher of Miami Life, a weekly newspaper, on charges of criminal libel was sworn to this morning by H. W. Dr. John Straton Says God Advises New Skyscraper

New York, September 12.—(AP)—Plans which he says had divine inspiration were regarded today by the Rev. Dr. John Straton as the basis for a new peace in Calvary Baptist church. The plans involve a 35-story combination church and office building.

The idea came to him directly from God, Dr. Straton said he believed, "while praying a few nights ago between 3 and 4 o'clock." He submitted his plan before his congregation last night on his return from a vacation devoted to "much prayer, meditation and Bible study," during which he had determined to "turn away from the past and forgive" those who have made trouble here.

The new church project was proposed in substitution of the pastor's proposal for erection of a skyscraper church and apartment building for which the pastor had long battled with factions of his congregation. Dr. Straton said the new building would cost several million dollars, but that it would leave the church over and above the cost of erection perhaps $1,000,000 after the extra floors had been sold for four or five million dollars.

Borah Pleased By Boy Sculptor; Can't Find Him

Washington, September 12.—(United News.)—Senator Borah believes he has discovered a boy sculptor who some day will be famous. Recently a young man came into Borah's office and asked the senator to sit for a bust. Borah, indifferently agreed, provided it would not interrupt his work. He did not bother to ask the young man's name and regarded him as one more of the multitude of cranky public men are obliged to endure.

The youth said little and after blocking out the head went away. A few days later he left the finished head in the senator's office, but left no name with it. Borah was so impressed with the likeness that he is now trying to find the young man, believing he has a future. Visitors who have seen the work regard it as excellent.

Miss A. Butts Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"Eczema began with a breaking out of small pimples on my face, and afterwards spread almost over my entire body. My face itched and burned so badly that I scratched it, causing eruptions that disfigured my face, and I was ashamed to be seen. My clothing aggravated the eruptions on my body, and I lost many nights of rest and sleep because of the irritation."

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me. I continued the treatment and after using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one and a half cakes of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Antoinette Butts, Box 157, Milledgeville, Ga., June 5, 1926.

HINDU MYSTIC COMING TO U. S. PEN TODAY

Trenton, N. J., September 12.—(AP)—Dinshah P. Ghadiali, Hindu mystic, head of the Spectro-Chrome Institute at Malaga, N. J., whose trial and conviction at Portland, Ore., for violation of the Mann act two years ago attracted nation-wide attention, will be taken to Atlanta tomorrow to begin a five-year sentence. Ghadiali was arrested Saturday on orders from Washington after appeals to the circuit court of Oregon, to President Coolidge and Attorney General Sargent had proven futile. Born in India, Ghadiali, since coming to this country, has been a physician, engineer and aviator, and finally founded the colony and school at Malaga. Here he taught his spectro-chrome therapy, which he describes as the "science of therapeutical precision," by which he claims to be able to cure mental diseases through the use of light rays.

The Hindu was arrested in 1925 on the charge of transporting a girl from Portland to Wildwood, N. J. He was convicted, sentenced to serve five years at Atlanta and pay a fine of $5,000.

Central of Georgia Railway Shows How Railways Are a Co-Operative Enterprise

The railways have been called "the country's greatest co-operative enterprise." There are three human factors fundamental to railroad service, the public, the employees and the owners. All have an interest in the results of railway operation, and if these results improve each should profit.

The record of the railways for the past year shows increased benefits for everybody concerned. Comparing the results of 1926 with those of 1925, the public is the principal beneficiary, having profited more from efficient, economical service than either employees or owners. The average rate per ton per mile the public paid for freight service in 1926 was less than in 1925, and this decreased rate saved the public about 120 million dollars last year. The public treasury further benefited by the increased tax payments of the railroads, amounting to 30 million dollars more than in 1925.

Of the increased railroad earnings in 1926, more than 96 million dollars went to the employees, there being an increase both in the number of employees and in their average compensation.

There was left from the increased earnings of the railways, 92 million dollars increased net operating income.

Putting it another way, the benefits to the public, the employees and the owners aggregated 338 million dollars, of which the public received 150 million dollars or 44 per cent, the employees 96 million dollars or 28.4 per cent, and the owners 92 million dollars or 27.6 per cent.

All three factors, the public, the employees and the owners, are indispensable for each other's success. The investment of capital and the co-operation of shippers and employees with the railways made increased efficiency of operation possible. Increased efficiency in turn brought about improved results, and since all shared in the benefits the welfare of all concerned was enhanced.

The future of railway transportation depends upon the relationship existing between the railroads, their patrons and their employees. It is important for the railroads to deserve and to hold the good-will of the public, the loyal and efficient service of their employees and the confidence of the investor.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Central of Georgia Railway Company.

TORTURE CHARGED TO DRY LEADER

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, September 12.—A suit for $100,000 damages was filed today against Augustus Heise, former assistant prohibition administrator under Chester P. Mills. The action was brought by Arthur Briggs, who charges Heise with inflicting him with "Chinese torture" on the night of December 13 in efforts to force him to make "certain disclosures."

Briggs, an East Indian, was acquitted in the federal courts on a charge of conspiring to violate the prohibition law, the government having contended he was a "go-between" for certain prohibition agents.

The "torture," according to the complaint papers, consisted of Heise's tying Briggs' hands and feet to a chair, gradually twisting the towel ends together. The papers also claim Briggs was beaten badly and made the victim of other "third degree" methods.

The assault is alleged to have taken place in prohibition headquarters, 1 Park avenue, and to have lasted from 8 o'clock in the evening until 2 o'clock the following morning.

RHEUMATISM

may be relieved by rational treatment—it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunate who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs, . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best."

Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tennessee.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

From youth to later years S.S.S. is a proven tonic—give it and take it when a tonic is indicated.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Heir to Millions Marries Pretty Soda Fountain Clerk

FAMILIES OF NEWLY-WEDS DISOWN THEM

BY GEORGE KENNY
(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution.)

New York, September 12.—Red-headed, devil-may-care young Jack Jaffray, soon to be married to a pretty 16-year-old soda fountain clerk of Irvington-on-Hudson.

With all the gusto of his 20 years, young Jack swept down from the great Jaffray castle in Barney park, on the exclusive heights of Irvington, and carried his little bride—already pledged to him—away from the candy and soda store in the center of the town.

It all happened on September 1—two days before Anna, Dick's sister, was to be married to a Sicilian custom-house officer.

Parents Bar New Wives.

Tonight the Cinderella romance of Westchester society became public. The young couple have wired they are married and happy. However, two doors, the portals of the palatial Jaffray estate, and the grimy little door of the Dick's candy store—have been closed tightly against the lovers' return. There will be no forgiveness.

On the heights, Jack Jaffray will be barred because he has violated the tenets of social caste. In the town little Anna is "dead" to her family—she has spurned the Roman tradition of paternal authority.

Grimly and coldly, Jack's grandmother, Mrs. Howard S. Jaffray, the white-haired 65-year-old widow who has been young Jack's guardian, declared:

"True Jack has eloped with that girl. He's done many a wild thing for a boy of 20 but this is the limit. The door is closed to him forever."

Kicked Groom Out.

Excitable little Joseph Dick, father of Anna, exclaimed in a fury:

"Neither of them will come here again. Anna is dead as far as I'm concerned. And as for that Jack Jaffray, I kicked him out of this store when he asked for Anna's hand. She was going to marry the son of friends I knew in Italy before I came to this country, 25 years ago."

As the story came out, it was apparent Jack's family at least suspected his intentions. His allowance had been cut down and on the eve of elopement day, the red-headed Romeo sallied forth and won $1,600 in a craps game to finance the honeymoon. With his winnings in his pocket the youth strolled down the winding path from Barney Park, passed his uncle's palatial estate, The Lindens, both memorials to the wealth piled up when Jack's great-uncle was a partner of A. T. Stewart. New York's merchant prince of a generation ago, and left behind wealth and position to enter the little candy store.

Anna, the demure little girl of the midnight hair, who, last June was graduated from the Irvington Parochial school, was behind the counter.

Father Picked Husband.

As he put away chocolate sundaes, Anna told her Prince Charming that her father had picked out a husband for her—John Palermo—a New York city taxi driver.

"Father is giving a big party day after tomorrow to announce her engagement," Anna told him with tears in her eyes. "But I won't marry him."

"Will you marry me?"

"Yes."

Jack deserted his confessor. Six feet tall, with the build of an athlete, he pushed back the curtains that cut off the rear of the shop and faced Anna's father.

"Anna and I want to get married. Is it all right?" he demanded.

Stories as to just what happened. Anna's father insists he literally kicked the youth from his shop. All Irvington, knowing Jack's physical strength and temperament, believes Jack merely grinned at the excited father, whispering a few words to Anna and left.

At 10 o'clock that night "without even a spare handkerchief," according to fearful Mrs. Dick, Anna slipped from the house. In his touring car outside were Jack and two mutual friends, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Vatto.

That night they reached Jersey City, and from there pushed on next day to Trenton. The marriage was performed and as the young couple swung south on their honeymoon trail, two telegrams carried back to the little ice cream parlor and to the estate in the park this morning:

"We're married and happy."

"Jack and Anna."

Today Mrs. Howard Jaffray packed up Jack's clothing and shipped them to the nephew for whom she has cared since the death of his father and the re-marriage of his mother.

"He's spoiled a wonderful career," Mrs. Jaffray declared unemotionally. "He has thrown his life away on a silly girl."

Dethroned Queen Of Beauty Begg Slander Denial

Atlantic City, N. J., September 12.—(P)—The trouble between Norma Smallwood, "Miss America" of 1926, who hails from Tulsa, Okla., and the Atlantic City pageant committee remained unsettled today. Miss Smallwood returned last night to find that her sudden departure from the pageant festivities had occasioned considerable criticism. She demanded today that the pageant committee "make a complete denial that there was any financial dispute" entailed in her departure from the city to fulfill a contract at a county fair near Greensboro, N. C.

The pageant committee was cold to her demand today. Frederick Hickman, president of the chamber of commerce and a member of the pageant committee, declared that the committee did not wish to give Miss Smallwood any more publicity than necessary. The pageant committee, he said, was giving its entire attention to Miss Lois Eleanor Delander, of Joliet, Ill., "Miss America 1927," and it would be time enough to issue a statement about the dethroned queen after the reigning beauty had left the city.

Hickman did say, however, that Miss Smallwood to go ahead and fill her other engagement. He added that the incident had upset Armando T. Nicholas, director general, who felt that the girl had been "badly advised."

ARMY AND NAVY FIGHT APRISES IN LEAGUE

Geneva, Switzerland, September 12.—(P)—The struggle over the plans for the reduction of world armaments came quickly to the fore today at the meeting of the disarmament committee of the league assembly, when Count von Bernstorff, of Germany, proposed the suggestion to postpone the session of the league's preparatory disarmament commission scheduled for November.

J. J. Loudon, Netherlands minister to France, who is president of the league's disarmament commission, urged that the projected November meeting be put off for some weeks, or some months. This would be, he said, in order to permit the governments to settle by direct negotiations the serious divergencies existing between them over the fundamental problems of disarmament.

M. Loudon declared frankly that public opinion had been disappointed by the first result of the work of the preparatory commission, which had failed to frame any real draft treaty.

He thought this was because excessive hopes were encouraged, causing the public to expect an agreement on every point. It would be a great mistake, he said, to meet again before the governments had reached an accord on essentials, fearing that this would encourage success of the disarmament movement.

He pleaded with the assembly committee to "give a leg up" to the preparatory commission, so that public opinion would compel the governments to reach an accord, and thus pave the way for a successful conference.

No decision was reached on the question of postponement, and the discussion will continue for several days.

Judge Luke Hits Sacco - Vanzetti Reprisal Acts

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Seething exhortation of reprisals visited on law-abiding citizens throughout the world as a result of the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti, who he branded as "foul murderers," featured the second barrage fired from the revival gun of Judge Roscoe Luke, of the Georgia court of appeals. The meeting was held at St. Paul Methodist church, and thousands of Atlantans packed the large auditorium, and scores were turned away.

Two services will be held today—one at 10:30 o'clock this morning and another beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Special features of the meetings are the musical programs under the direction of Charles Butler, who, Judge Luke declared, is the greatest evangelist soloist and director in the country, and Mr. Butler's daughter, Miss Lillian Butler, pianist and soprano soloist.

"No labor union or no government, however powerful and influential, can ever stand as the intercessor for the sinner—the purging blood of Christ can do that," the speaker said. "If law observance were general there would be less need for laws and prohibitive statutes."

"We need a constituency which will abide by the laws, and enforcement would not be necessary. The Sacco and Vanzetti case would never have been heard of. But we need, among other things, strict enforcement and quick action in the interest of the country, which Christ died to protect."

"If mothers and fathers will quit trying to police their children, by driving them, and begin leading them in the way of the light of the cross of Jesus, there will be little need of the complaint that young people are drifting away from the religion of their fathers and worshipping the jazz age."

PANAMA PRESENTS TROUBLE TO LEAGUE

Geneva, Switzerland, September 12.—(P)—Panama's public presentation to the League of Nations assembly of the details of her dispute with the United States concerning the sovereignty of the canal zone has caused something of a sensation here.

It has distinctly created the impression that the Latin-American countries will not only air at Geneva political problems arising among themselves but also those which directly affect the United States.

Panama appealed to the United States to accord her satisfaction in her claim that complete sovereignty over the canal belt has not been abandoned by cession of special administrative rights there, but it is remarked here both by Europeans and Americans that she must appeal through the medium of the league.

U. S. DENIES DISPUTE OVER SOVEREIGNTY

Washington, September 12.—(P)—Both state department officials and ranking members of the senate foreign relations committee declared flatly today that the League of Nations had no jurisdiction whatever over American control of the Panama canal zone.

Their declarations were evoked by a statement Saturday to the assembly of the league of Geneva by Dr. Eusebio Morales, Panamanian representative, that the sovereignty dispute over the zone might form a subject for arbitration.

At the state department it was declared that the question of the exercise by the United States of sovereignty over the canal zone was not in dispute with Panama, and that the government of that country had not submitted any request for modification of the new treaty which still is before the Panamanian congress.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, asserted that "whatever controversy there may be with regard to sovereignty over the zone would be settled by the United States and Panama."

"Neither the League of Nations nor any outside influence has anything to do with the adjustment of that matter," he added.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking democrat on the committee, said that in his judgment the United States possesses "absolute sovereignty over the Panama canal zone and does not propose to submit that question to the arbitration of any tribunal."

Club Women Range When Grand Jury Hits Charity Fair

Long Beach, N. Y., September 12.—(United News).—Sixteen prominent clubwomen were indicted and troubled tonight because the Nassau county grand jury had the temerity to subpoena them along with the operators of beach and resort resorts in an announced drive to punish gamblers here.

The women formed the committee which recently staged a fair for the Long Beach hospital.

The grand jury has raised the question of whether games of chance in the name of charity constitute gambling.

The clubwomen returned from Mineola during the evening on the so-called "subpoena special"—a chartered bus—after cooling their heels outside the grand jury room most of the day.

Putting on a bold front, they played bridge in the ante-room of the grand jury chambers.

District Attorney Edwards gave no sign of relenting in his earnest attack toward the matter, and the clubwomen will apparently have to explain the workings of their charity fair when the grand jury gets around to them.

LAKEWOOD DANCE CONTEST PROGRESS AGAIN TONIGHT

Contests to select Atlanta's most graceful and poised couple will enter the fourth consecutive week tonight at the dancing pavilion at Lakewood. Three couples will be named to compete with three others to be named in elimination contests to be staged Thursday and Saturday night, respectively, in a competition to be held Saturday night to select the week's winners. One couple will be chosen to vie in the grand finale Saturday, September 24.

Three couples have been named already to participate in the finals. The contests are being held by the Lake-side Amusement corporation, operators of the dance hall.

Booths for concessions at the South-eastern fair, which opens October 1, were under construction Monday, and work was being rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Officials of the fair association "noted that there will be more than ever this year, and preparations for the biggest year in the history of the association are being perfected."

Two services will be held today—one at 10:30 o'clock this morning and another beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Special features of the meetings are the musical programs under the direction of Charles Butler, who, Judge Luke declared, is the greatest evangelist soloist and director in the country, and Mr. Butler's daughter, Miss Lillian Butler, pianist and soprano soloist.

"No labor union or no government, however powerful and influential, can ever stand as the intercessor for the sinner—the purging blood of Christ can do that," the speaker said. "If law observance were general there would be less need for laws and prohibitive statutes."

"We need a constituency which will abide by the laws, and enforcement would not be necessary. The Sacco and Vanzetti case would never have been heard of. But we need, among other things, strict enforcement and quick action in the interest of the country, which Christ died to protect."

"If mothers and fathers will quit trying to police their children, by driving them, and begin leading them in the way of the light of the cross of Jesus, there will be little need of the complaint that young people are drifting away from the religion of their fathers and worshipping the jazz age."

Geneva, Switzerland, September 12.—(P)—The struggle over the plans for the reduction of world armaments came quickly to the fore today at the meeting of the disarmament committee of the league assembly, when Count von Bernstorff, of Germany, proposed the suggestion to postpone the session of the league's preparatory disarmament commission scheduled for November.

J. J. Loudon, Netherlands minister to France, who is president of the league's disarmament commission, urged that the projected November meeting be put off for some weeks, or some months. This would be, he said, in order to permit the governments to settle by direct negotiations the serious divergencies existing between them over the fundamental problems of disarmament.

M. Loudon declared frankly that public opinion had been disappointed by the first result of the work of the preparatory commission, which had failed to frame any real draft treaty.

He thought this was because excessive hopes were encouraged, causing the public to expect an agreement on every point. It would be a great mistake, he said, to meet again before the governments had reached an accord on essentials, fearing that this would encourage success of the disarmament movement.

He pleaded with the assembly committee to "give a leg up" to the preparatory commission, so that public opinion would compel the governments to reach an accord, and thus pave the way for a successful conference.

No decision was reached on the question of postponement, and the discussion will continue for several days.

PANAMA PRESENTS TROUBLE TO LEAGUE

Geneva, Switzerland, September 12.—(P)—Panama's public presentation to the League of Nations assembly of the details of her dispute with the United States concerning the sovereignty of the canal zone has caused something of a sensation here.

It has distinctly created the impression that the Latin-American countries will not only air at Geneva political problems arising among themselves but also those which directly affect the United States.

Panama appealed to the United States to accord her satisfaction in her claim that complete sovereignty over the canal belt has not been abandoned by cession of special administrative rights there, but it is remarked here both by Europeans and Americans that she must appeal through the medium of the league.

U. S. DENIES DISPUTE OVER SOVEREIGNTY

Washington, September 12.—(P)—Both state department officials and ranking members of the senate foreign relations committee declared flatly today that the League of Nations had no jurisdiction whatever over American control of the Panama canal zone.

Their declarations were evoked by a statement Saturday to the assembly of the league of Geneva by Dr. Eusebio Morales, Panamanian representative, that the sovereignty dispute over the zone might form a subject for arbitration.

At the state department it was declared that the question of the exercise by the United States of sovereignty over the canal zone was not in dispute with Panama, and that the government of that country had not submitted any request for modification of the new treaty which still is before the Panamanian congress.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, asserted that "whatever controversy there may be with regard to sovereignty over the zone would be settled by the United States and Panama."

"Neither the League of Nations nor any outside influence has anything to do with the adjustment of that matter," he added.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking democrat on the committee, said that in his judgment the United States possesses "absolute sovereignty over the Panama canal zone and does not propose to submit that question to the arbitration of any tribunal."

Club Women Range When Grand Jury Hits Charity Fair

Long Beach, N. Y., September 12.—(United News).—Sixteen prominent clubwomen were indicted and troubled tonight because the Nassau county grand jury had the temerity to subpoena them along with the operators of beach and resort resorts in an announced drive to punish gamblers here.

The women formed the committee which recently staged a fair for the Long Beach hospital.

The grand jury has raised the question of whether games of chance in the name of charity constitute gambling.

The clubwomen returned from Mineola during the evening on the so-called "subpoena special"—a chartered bus—after cooling their heels outside the grand jury room most of the day.

Putting on a bold front, they played bridge in the ante-room of the grand jury chambers.

District Attorney Edwards gave no sign of relenting in his earnest attack toward the matter, and the clubwomen will apparently have to explain the workings of their charity fair when the grand jury gets around to them.

LAKEWOOD DANCE CONTEST PROGRESS AGAIN TONIGHT

Contests to select Atlanta's most graceful and poised couple will enter the fourth consecutive week tonight at the dancing pavilion at Lakewood. Three couples will be named to compete with three others to be named in elimination contests to be staged Thursday and Saturday night, respectively, in a competition to be held Saturday night to select the week's winners. One couple will be chosen to vie in the grand finale Saturday, September 24.

Three couples have been named already to participate in the finals. The contests are being held by the Lake-side Amusement corporation, operators of the dance hall.

Booths for concessions at the South-eastern fair, which opens October 1, were under construction Monday, and work was being rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Officials of the fair association "noted that there will be more than ever this year, and preparations for the biggest year in the history of the association are being perfected."

SYRINGE FOUND IMPLICATES NURSE

Enid, Okla., September 12.—(P)—A hypodermic syringe resembling three others found in the possession of Miss Mary Atkinson, 26, trained nurse, detained in jail here in connection with the deaths of the wife and a daughter of the Rev. Charles Bailey, today was turned over by the university hospital to Dan Mitchell, county attorney.

The syringe, differing from those in use at the hospital, was found tucked away on a shelf in the diet kitchen of the hospital, where Mary Jane Bailey, 18, was nursed during her fatal illness by Miss Atkinson and others.

Dr. Paul Champlin, of the hospital staff, said Miss Atkinson came to the hospital with Mary Jane when the girl became violently ill last Thursday night. She and her two brothers, John and Stewart, and one of her sisters, had become ill Monday, a week ago. The other children recovered. The mother died several weeks ago.

Stewart today related that Miss Atkinson had administered hypodermic injections to Mary Jane. Hospital records showed physicians had prescribed but one injection and this was made by another nurse.

The syringe found in the hospital bore the name of a Chicago firm. Miss Atkinson, received her training in a Chicago hospital.

In her cell today, Miss Atkinson, who followed the Bailey family from Texas and lived at their home here, said her admiration for the gray-haired pastor had cooled considerably.

"He has made statements which I feel he should not have made if he had been the man whose example I had thought of as inspiring and whose kindness had been a great help to me," she said.

Mitchell said no further legal steps were planned, pending completion of chemical analysis of the viscera of the dead girl.

EDUCATE CHILDREN URGES EVANGELIST

"See to it that your children get a good education and rear them in the true walks of life," the Rev. S. D. Mitchell, noted evangelist, addressed to a congregation of more than 3,000 persons at Big Bethel, A. M. E. church, Monday night.

The evangelist declared that it was a sin for parents not to take advantage of the opportunities to send their children to the great schools of the city.

Big Bethel choir, Nos. 1 and 2, rendered several negro spirituals and the evangelist played several sections on the piano.

MAN NEAR DEATH, ASSAILANT HELD

K. W. Rowe, 64, of R. F. D. No. 1, Atlanta, is in Grady hospital believed to be suffering from a fractured skull received in an altercation Monday night with Frank Welch, whose address is unknown. Welch is being held in Fulton tower without bond pending the outcome of Rowe's injuries, which may prove fatal.

According to a statement to county police made by Rowe, he was riding home on his wagon Monday night on Campbellton road and when he neared the intersection of Sandtown road, Welch stepped from his car which he had parked across the road and asked him if he had any money. After receiving a negative reply, Welch is said to have attacked Rowe, striking him over the head a number of times with a blunt instrument.

Welch claims that he beat Rowe because he had used obscene language in Mrs. Welch's presence.

REV. T. N. LAWRENCE ACCEPTS MACON CALL

Macon, Ga., September 12.—(AP)—Rev. T. N. Lawrence, of Belleville, Texas, accepted a call to St. Paul's Episcopal church here tonight when formally advised by the vestry that they had issued a call.

He will take over his duties here the first Sunday in October. He is a graduate of William and Mary college and of the Theological seminary of Alexandria, Va. His home is temporarily in Clarendon, Va.

School Children In Mine District Stage Walkout

Pittsburgh, September 12.—(AP)—As children of striking union miners abandoned their "sympathy strike" at one Allegheny county school today, a "walkout" developed at another.

School authorities announced all but five of the 250 "strikers" at the Gallatin school had returned to their studies. At the Arleton school, however, it was learned 140 of a total of 203 pupils had failed to attend classes this afternoon.

C. E. Dickey, superintendent of county schools, said he believed school authorities would have as little trouble solving the difficulties at Arleton as they had at Gallatin where the trouble started when children of union miners refused to attend classes with those of non-union workers.

"We do not want to deal too harshly with these children nor their parents," Dickey said in expressing hope that it would not be necessary to have recourse to the state attendance law to compel the children to return to school. "Of course they are breaking the law by staying away from school and if they continue to refuse to attend classes we shall be forced to serve the parents with summonses and they will be fined from $1.00 to $5.00 for the first offense."

The trouble started at Gallatin last Tuesday when state police at the request of the Pittsburgh Coal company went to the school to protect the children of non-union workers from the union sympathizers. A day or so later the union children failed to report. Conferences were held between parents of the "striking" students and school authorities with the result that all but five had returned to school this afternoon.

ROCKEFELLER HONOR OF LEAGUE LIBRARY

Geneva, September 12.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is the sole donor of a library for the League of Nations, it was announced in the league assembly today. There had been a $200,000 fund for the erection of a library for the league.

The donor was announced by President Guggenheim of the league assembly. The announcement was greeted with prolonged applause as was Guggenheim's tribute to the humanitarian work of the Rockefeller foundation.

President Guggenheim opened the league assembly with the announcement that the council of the league had decided to accept the American gift for the erection of the library.

Dr. Giuseppe Motta, president of Switzerland, paid glowing tribute to the American's generosity and said that he rejoiced that Geneva would be the beneficiary of the gift.

Stephan Osusky, of Czechoslovakia, who before the resuscitation of his country was a naturalized American and a lawyer in Chicago, said that though the United States was not a member of the league its people could not remain indifferent to the ideals of the league. The donation just announced was tangible proof of that, he declared, and was the source of stimulation and encouragement to the league.

Dr. W. J. M. Van Eysinga, of Holland, characterized the announcement of the gift as "a joyous message." He compared it to the library with which Andrew Carnegie endowed The Hague. He urged the assembly's ratification of the council's acceptance.

Guggenheim closed the discussion by expressing the gratitude of all the 47 represented in the assembly. The gift was then accepted unanimously.

After the assembly's ratification Guggenheim declared there was no further reason to conceal the name of the donor—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Jurist in Ohio To Settle Case Of Infant's Sex

Cleveland, Ohio, September 12.—(United News).—The scales of justice will be balanced Tuesday to decide the strangest case ever to enter Ohio court annals.

The part of Solomon, in the courtroom, will be enacted by Common Pleas Judge Karl V. Egan. It will be his duty to decide whether a child born in a Cleveland maternity hospital was a boy or a girl.

Attorneys for Mrs. Sam Smith, in an affidavit filed with the court, stated a child was born to the woman in a maternity hospital August 22, and that physicians said at the time it was a boy.

Mrs. Smith named the baby "George" but shortly after its birth, lapsed into unconsciousness. When she regained her strength, attendants brought in a baby girl and asserted it was hers.

The woman became hysterical and through her husband's attorneys has taken the matter into court. Hospital physicians say there was no mistake and that "George" was a girl in the beginning.

JADWIN PROPOSES TRUCK FEEDERS FOR WATERWAYS

Baltimore, Md., September 12.—(AP)—Establishment of truck lines as feeders to inland waterways was advocated by Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief engineer, United States Army, in an address today before the Atlantic Deep Waterways association of the United States as having "plenty of length but no local interest."

Citing a four-million-ton increase in freight carried by inland waterways paralleling the coast General Jadwin said that the trucking industry could extend the effectiveness of the waterways to include a belt 100 miles wide.

Commenting on Mississippi flood control General Jadwin asserted that the problem could be solved by raising the levees seven or eight feet at about one-third the cost required to build an adequate reservoir system.

Two Governors Opposed to Flood Control Sessions

Jackson, Miss., September 12.—(AP)—Belief that a special session of the Mississippi legislature would not help conditions in the flooded section of this state was expressed here today by Governor Dennis Murphy.

"Unless a dire necessity exists in the inundated section of which I have been informed, I am inclined to oppose a special session at this time," the governor said.

"This body could not accomplish anything that could not be taken up by the regular session in January, because taxes do not come due until February and postponement of collection of these taxes could be provided by the legislature in its regular session," Governor Murphy declared.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR OPPOSES SESSION.

Hot Springs, September 12.—(AP)—Governor John B. Murphree, of Arkansas, announced today that he would not call a special session of the state legislature to enact special flood legislation. He made this announcement after a conference of the Tri-State executive committee on flood control.

Although chairmen of the Arkansas and Mississippi flood commissions yesterday gave the conclusion that special legislatures in these states were advisable the governor said he did not believe the legislature could aid flood relief greatly.

Coolidge Told Extra Session Not Necessary

Washington, September 12.—(AP)—Summoned to the white house for their views on the necessity for a special session of congress, Coolidge, Curtis, of Kansas, and Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, republicans, leaders of the senate and house, emphatically informed President Coolidge, just back from his vacation in the Black Hills, that they saw no need for one.

Senator Curtis said also that he could see no advantage in calling the senate together ahead of the regular meeting in December to take up the contests against the election of Senators-elect from Illinois, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, both republicans.

Considerable fireworks are in prospect over each contest and apparently the administration's line of discussion would dispose of them.

The view of both Senator Curtis and Mr. Tilson was at variance with that of some members of the executive committee, among them Senators Smoot, of Utah, and Jones, of Washington, both of whom during visits at the summer white house in South Dakota, urged the president to call a special session.

Refreshed by his first night's rest in the remodeled white house after a two-day journey from the Black Hills, Mr. Coolidge was to his desk a little late this morning, walking some 34 yards to the executive offices in place of the ride of 34 miles required in South Dakota.

Desiring to make some headway toward clearing up the special session question which has been hanging fire all summer, the president called his first business to consult the two party leaders, whose views, naturally, are expected to have considerable weight.

While Mr. Tilson later declared he believed there was no question but that Mr. Coolidge had definitely eliminated himself from the republican presidential race in 1928, by his statement that he did not choose to run next year, there were indications that Senator Curtis was not so clear about the meaning of the announcement. However, neither indicated that he had discussed this statement with the president.

The legislative program received attention at the conference which were held separately by Mr. Coolidge with the two leaders who had an opportunity to talk things over together in reception rooms before the meeting with the president. Later Senator Curtis had little to say about his talk with the president, except as to a special session.

Increases Asked.

Showing Representative Tilson a long list of increased appropriations asked for next year by government departments the president made it plain that congress must choose between the appropriation and tax reduction. He said he favored tax reduction up to $300,000,000 but said that if this would be accomplished congress would have to go light on the appropriations program.

Expecting Chairman Green to assemble the house ways and means committee the last of next month to frame a tax bill, Tilson said he favored giving this measure and the appropriation measures the first call of business in the house in December. He also is anxious to take up a flood relief program and to consider Boulder canyon dam legislation and he will leave here tonight to inspect the flood area as well as the Colorado river dam site.

Farm relief also was expected to come up at this session by Mr. Tilson and he said this subject was mentioned at the white house conference but only in passing. He has no idea, however, whether Mr. Coolidge or the administration will put forward a relief bill.

Confers With Kellogg.

The president spent the afternoon in conference with Secretary Kellogg, his first meeting with the head of the state department since he went to the Black Hills. Although there are vacancies in ambassadorships to Mexico and to Cuba, Kellogg said after the conference that there was no indication when an appointment would be made to either place. Some time ago, he said, he recommended several names to the president for his consideration in filling these posts.

Postmaster General and Secretary Davis, of the war department, were other cabinet officers who called on the president during the day. Neither visited him in South Dakota during the summer.

"INGRATITUDE" TOPIC OF COLORED PASTOR

The Rev. G. Williams Washington, of Brooklyn, who is conducting a 10-day revival at Fair Haven Christian church, spoke to a large audience Monday night on the subject "Ingratitude." He said the negro of the south was very ungrateful to God and to the white people who make life worth while for the colored race in this country.

The Rev. P. H. Mays, pastor of the church, spoke very highly of Dr. Washington's religious work, that he has been carrying on for the past quarter-century.

MARIETTA WOMAN HURT BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Marietta, Ga., September 12.—(Special).—Mrs. George Moore was recovering here today from a severe shock caused by a lightning bolt which struck her home during a thunder shower Sunday evening.

Mrs. Moore was found unconscious in the bath room, where she had gone to close the window. She was rushed to a local hospital, and today it was said she was out of danger.

High wind accompanied the storm and several trees were uprooted in the city.

Boy, 15, Tries Solo Flight; Ends in Crash

Minneapolis, L. I., September 12.—Even if he crashing on his first solo flight, at Curtis Field, late Saturday night, a 15-year-old Charles A. Lindbergh is gone.

As punishment for deceiving her and also on the chance that he had suffered some supervisory injury when the antiquated plane he took from a hangar without permission fell into a tree when he had gone but half a mile, the boy's wealthy mother, Mrs. Charles Anthony Fowler, of Garden City, compelled him to remain in bed all day. She said she would take him to a specialist in New York City for examination and declared emphatically that his flying days were ended.

Officials at Curtis Field where Charles, a Maryland prep school student, had, covertly, foiled as a mechanic for two months in return for a few hours' flying instruction for which his mother had refused him funds, were just as well pleased that he would have no further opportunity to crack up their planes and those planes' reputations.

RUSSELL SCOTT'S SANITY HEARING AGAIN CONTINUED

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Russell Scott, who for more than three years has been in and out of the shadow of the gallows, today won a new continuance when he appeared in court for the eighth time to fight for his life.

Accused of killing a drug clerk in a holdup in 1920 came into court today for a new sanity hearing, but at the request of his attorney, William Scott Stewart, who is busy with another case, a continuance was granted to September 20.

Grand Rapids, Mich., September 12.—(AP)—The blue-clad members of the Grand Army of the Republic formally welcomed to their annual encampment here tonight when the city extended its official greeting with a parade in which military, city, fraternal and patriotic organizations participated.

The gray-haired veterans, however, did not form part of the march column, whose steps were timed by the rhythm of nine bands and two rifle and drum corps. Stopped by the weight of the advancing years, and with their last parade a thing of history, the war-worn of the blue occupied places of honor on the reviewing stand while younger and stronger men, many veterans of more recent wars, marched before them.

Marched Before Them.

The 126th infantry of the Michigan National Guard, veterans of the Spanish-American war, members of the American Legion, and the uniformed members of the city's fraternal organizations formed the body of the parade that wound through the heart of the city toward the reviewing stand in Fulton park.

A semi-official meeting at the armory followed, with Governor Fred W. Green, of Michigan, and Elvin Swarthmore, mayor of Grand Rapids, extending official greetings. Apparently recovered from the strain of journeying here from his home in Milwaukee, Commander-in-Chief Frank A. Walsh, responded in behalf of the thinking ranks he leads.

What may prove to be the popular subject for discussion during the encampment came to the front today—a proposed reunion of the soldiers of the union forces and those of the Confederacy. The question was considered at the last annual encampment at Des Moines. Commander Walsh, however, does not believe the question will reach the floor of the encampment. "Some day the Johnnies may meet, with us, but the time is not now," he said today.

Wood Successors Are Suggested By Filipinos

Manila, September 12.—(AP)—Major General James G. Harbord and Douglas MacArthur, who were in Manila by Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, as acceptable to Filipino for appointment as the next governor general of the Philippines, as well as Major General Frank McIntyre, as present chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department.

Quezon's favoring remains regarding the candidacy of McIntyre, defended himself vigorously. Quezon declared he had not intended anyone to succeed him, General George Leonard Wood, that he was still opposed to a military man in principle, but was willing to make an exception in the case of Harbord, MacArthur and McIntyre.

A surprise was sprung by the senate president, hitherto regarded as also favorable to Eugene A. Gilmore, when Quezon said that Gilmore, who as vice governor general, became acting governor general on the death of Wood, was not yet acceptable to the legislature.

Lineman Killed.

New Smyrna, Fla., September 12.—(AP)—Edward Simpson, 25, Orlando, a lineman employed by the City of New Smyrna, was electrocuted today when he came in contact with high voltage wires, while working on a pole.

High wind accompanied the storm and several trees were uprooted in the city.

STIRLING IS CLEARED BY NEBRASKA JUDGE

Lincoln, Neb., September 12.—(AP)—W. L. (Young) Stirling, light heavyweight boxer, and Leo Diebel, whose recent bout here was stopped in the sixth round and called "no contest" by the referee, were cleared of the charge of stalling today by Judge Lincoln Frost and the Nebraska state boxing commission.

However, they are little nearer collecting $2,200, their share of the receipts, than immediately after the bout. City Commissioner John Hopkins declared he would resist any effort to obtain the money for the boxers, adding he will give it to the "Community Chest fund and let the state sue."

Judge Frost reached a decision after hearing evidence which tended to show Stirling hurt his right hand in the third round and ordered the referee's decision of "no contest" modified.

The state boxing commission holds the order means the money belongs to the boxers.

London Trembles As Foundations Found Unstable

London, England, September 12.—(AP)—London has discovered that its house is built upon the sand, and is shivering in consequence. Not since the German air raids of ten years ago has there been such trepidation over the possibility of catastrophe.

In the last few weeks a half dozen buildings in various parts of the city have crumbled and fallen to the ground, great holes have opened in the streets, and a tremendous cavity was formed beneath Piccadilly, which is in course of reconstruction.

A joint committee meeting has been called to take place between the Royal Institute of British Architects and the Federation of Building Trade Employers, to discuss the stability of London. London builders have made application for a revision of the standard and form of agreement between builders and architects, and the National Physical Laboratory is studying the effects of vibration on buildings.

The collapse of large structures—one a seven-story office building in Cornhill street, across from the Bank of England—and the opening of huge holes in the streets have revealed the fact that London is built on a shifting foundation.

The top 30 feet of London's surface ground is composed of shifting strata in which endless subterranean burrowing has gone on and on. Under London is full of streams and water has been drained from one plane to another, as an architect said recently, to meet the needs of the moment, in such an inconsequential way that the water-bearing strata are constantly shifting and making hidden chasms that may have serious consequences.

ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, as present United States Senator from New York and formerly Health Commissioner for the City of New York, is a national authority on public health and the record he achieved in New York at the head of the Health Department has never been equaled. It is natural that his opinion should have decisive weight.

Dr. Copeland says: "Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many of the cathartic compounds on the market. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. In their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes, I am confident they are far less irritating. Indeed, many mineral waters possess qualities which make them soothing and healing to the tissues. Sugar coated pills are pleasant to take—that is the reason they are coated with sugar. But the fact that they are so attractive may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic simply because they appeal to the taste. On the other hand, mineral waters contain elements which are found in the blood. Most of these substances are there in higher percentage than in the blood. For that reason they are unattractive to the blood-stream and therefore pass through the system, doing nothing else but to flush and cleanse the intestinal tract."

Pluto Water, with its mineral content, has been the dependable agent of the American people over the years in successfully battling constipation, the source of so many bodily ills. It "flushes the bowels and washes away impurities," gently, naturally and thoroughly. It neither gripes nor is habit-forming. Acts in 30 minutes to 2 hours.

Sold at all drug counters and at fountains. Bottled at the Springs, French Lick, Ind.

DR. COOK PETITIONS FOR COURT REVIEW

Washington, September 12.—(AP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Arctic explorer, today petitioned the supreme court to decide whether the federal district court for northern Texas, in which he was convicted of using the mails to defraud, had authority to place him on probation.

Sentenced November 21, 1923, to 14 years and nine months at Leavenworth, Dr. Cook asked the district court recently to place him on probation under a law providing for such clemency but which was enacted after he began serving his sentence. The district court granted his request over the objection of the government.

"The act was unconstitutional and that the court had lost control in the matter because he had commenced serving his sentence. The circuit court of appeals reversed the district court."

In asking the supreme court to review the case, Dr. Cook asserted that the circuit courts of the sixth, seventh and ninth circuits had taken a different view, holding that trial courts could place on probation prisoners who had started serving their terms and that similar rulings had been made by numerous district courts. He also said the eighth circuit court of appeals in the case of Glenn Murray from Nebraska, had asked the supreme court for instructions on the subject.

The flogging is alleged to have occurred in Summit county, near Portage county.

SALVATION ARMY ASKS DISCARDED STRAW LIDS

Spare the old straw kelly and let the Salvation Army have a chance to turn it to some good use, was the plea made Monday by Staff Captain W. H. Range, commander of the army's social service department, as the calendar shuffled along close to September 15, the final day which custom allows for the wearing of summer-time head adornment.

Practices in Atlanta, as elsewhere in the United States, has been to make a grand smash of all straw hats on September 15; thousands have been crushed and pitched into the wasteful field, when Atlanta happened to be playing at home; other thousands were enthusiastically trampled back into shapeless piles of straw by eager and destructive heels, and left for the street cleaning department; others were left in hat stores for such disposition as the dispenser of new fall felts chose to make; others carefully carried home in the vague intent of being resurrected for another season, but usually forgotten and finally thrown away by the time summer returned.

The Salvation Army, however, can make practical and widely helpful use of anything, even old straw hats. It regularly collects broken down or worn out furniture, clothing worn until useless and rags, and finds a way to salvage or sell them to support its social service center for broken-down, friendless old men who have "spunk" enough to want to work for a living rather than go to the county poor farm.

Straw hats can be put at 54 Ellis street, or if thrown in with enough other old material to make a bundle will be sent for on telephone call to Ivy 2224.

Man To Face Charge At Summerville Court Of Robbing Girl Scouts

Summerville, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The regular September term of Chatham superior court convened here this morning with Judge James Maddox, of Rome, presiding. Jurors have been drawn for a two weeks' session. The civil docket was taken up first and it is probable that this will occupy the court's attention during the greater part of the first week, after which the criminal business will be taken up.

There are no murder cases to be tried at this term of the court. The case of John Farmer, of Lookout mountain, charged with having robbed some of the Girl Scouts during their encampment near Cloudland a few weeks ago, will probably be tried at this term.

feature performers of John Robinson's circus, which comes to Atlanta for afternoon and night exhibitions on Monday, September 19.

"Little George" is one of the inmates of the juvenile zoo and menagerie with John Robinson's circus, while Miss Baron is one of the four noted Baron girls, English aerialists. These girls are said to be without an equal in aerialism, possessing abundant nerve and daring, as well as a goodly share of English beauty. The 104th edition of John Robinson's circus comes here with many new and novel features, as well as the greatest of all trained wild animal displays.

Atlanta Division Of L. & N. Credited With Safety Record

The Atlanta division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, employing 1,875 persons, went through the month of June without a single injury to an employee that resulted in as much as three days' lost time. This is a fact that has never before been accomplished by a division with more than 1,000 employees. The following month the shop forces of the Atlanta division, numbering 1,000, passed through July unscathed. Employees of the Atlanta division gave a barbecue in Elbow, Tenn., in celebration of this record. The Agoda event being attended by about 3,000 people.

700 STUDENTS ENROLL AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE NEW DECATUR HOTEL FORMALLY OPENED

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(AP)—With an unusually large enrollment, said to be around 700, the Georgia State Teachers' college, formerly the State Normal school, has opened here.

President Jere M. Pound, in his address of welcome to the new students, referred briefly to the change in the name of the institution by act of the recent session of the Georgia general assembly.

"In changing from the State Normal school to the State Teachers' college we wish to carry with us that which was good about the old school, to develop it and make it better; and in the same way we hope to leave behind anything which was not good."

Representatives of the various churches in Athens were present at the opening exercises and made short talks, inviting the students to worship in their respective churches. Dr. E. L. Hill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, called attention to the fact that "one thing which is stressed in this institution is a religious atmosphere," and voiced the invitation from his church and from other local churches.

Dr. J. S. Cartledge, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, pronounced the invocation.

WORK IS STARTED ON NACOOCHIE SCHOOL

Nacoochie, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—During the past months plans have developed rapidly for enlarged service through the consolidation of Nacoochie Institute and the Rabun Gap school, both in the mountain section of north Georgia. These plans make possible a constructive piece of work, through a chain of schools thrown across north Georgia, and to be known as the Rabun Gap-Nacoochie school. Centering at Rabun Gap at the junction of Georgia, North and South Carolina, schools are conducted at Tiger and at Nacoochie and extension points.

The school in Nacoochie Valley opened on September 8, with a large attendance. A new brick school house is under construction. Its completion will relieve congested conditions in dormitories and in the present temporary school house.

The Rabun Gap-Nacoochie school reaches hundreds of girls and boys of these mountain regions. An entirely unique plan provides for the education and training of whole families on the 3,500-acre farm at Rabun Gap. Work on beautiful buildings to cost $250,000 has been started at Rabun Gap. $50,000 of this amount being the gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The Rabun Gap-Nacoochie school is owned and controlled by the synod of Georgia of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America. Rev. J. K. Coit and Dr. Andrew Ritchie are associate superintendents. J. B. Campbell, of Atlanta, is the chairman of the board of trustees.

TABERNACLE CLASSES LEAD IN ATTENDANCE

With a total Sunday school attendance of 16,226 registered last Sunday by the 30 schools reporting to the Georgia Sunday School association, the Tabernacle Baptist led the field, having 1,855 present. The Agoda class of the tabernacle took first place among the classes with 271 present.

Marking a new step in the civic and commercial progress of Decatur, the new Hotel Candler, magnificently appointed hostelry erected by business men of the prosperous Atlanta suburb to fill a community need long felt, Monday night was formally opened with a reception and dance attended by thousands eager for its success.

Officials of the Community Hotel corporation, owners of the hotel: Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Sloan, its operators; members of the Decatur Woman's club and chamber of commerce; and of the Atlanta Hotel association formed the receiving line, and these were showered with congratulations on the beauty and elegance of the hotel and with hearty good wishes for its success.

The guests were served buffet refreshments, after which they enjoyed several hours of dancing in the delightful ballroom of the Candler, music being provided by an orchestra headed by Enrico Leide.

Mrs. Mildred Baker Fletcher sang a group of three songs during the evening. Walter Candler acted as toastmaster for the occasion. The lobby was gorgeously beautiful with large numbers of floral baskets and designs sent by various friends of Decatur, Atlanta and other points.

Guests were taken on a tour of the hostelry, the journey through the Candler disclosing its many attractive features of furnishings, cuisine equipment and beautiful public rooms. It was evident that the most minute care had been taken in laying out plans for the hotel to provide every comfort possible for its guests. Not only was this true in equipping the individual rooms, but also in the quiet taste and impressive beauty of the structure as a whole.

The hotel building, situated at the corner of Ponce de Leon avenue and East Church street, at the junction of a number of Georgia's most important trunk highways, should prove a helpful and a delightful stopping place for tourists who prefer to remain on the outskirts of the city, where every convenience is provided for them.

Mrs. Sloan, the wife of the general manager of the new hotel, who will have charge of its cuisine, plans to make the New Candler attractive to Atlantans who wish to dine out, if the city to enjoy a meal away from home, and she is laying comprehensive plans to spread the fame of her food among local connoisseurs.

She stated that the kitchen of the new hotel is designed to take care of every demand that may be made upon it, with equipment of the most modern and efficient type on hand to concoct any dish patrons may call for.

The hotel building—of the Georgian style of architecture—is four stories in height, offering to the public use of 60 tastefully furnished guest rooms. The ballroom is located on the second floor and is one of the chief features of the structure.

Officials of the hotel company include Walter Candler, J. Howell Green, R. C. Henderson, M. A. Allison, Leon O'Neal, W. C. C. Childress, S. H. Allen, F. H. Roberts, C. H. Blount, W. D. Thompson and J. A. McCrary.

'Doped' Coffee, Sent to Tower Prisoner, Nabbed

Many of the subterfuges resorted to by friends of "dope fiends" to slip the addicts narcotics when they are in jail, but usually the careful examination of the package reveals the contraband, and the neatly laid plans of the friends, like those of the proverbial mice, "aft gang aglee."

So, when a package of coffee arrived at Fulton Tower Sunday for Carl Senter, who is held under an indictment charging larceny of an automobile, Chief Justice Sheriff J. W. Jordan for the usual scrutiny. The coffee proved to be heavily laden with dope, a total of five grains of morphine being uncovered.

Mrs. Carl Senter, wife of the prisoner, to whom the doped coffee was addressed, was arrested Monday by narcotic officers and arraigned before United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter, who held her for the federal grand jury under $500 bond. It was testified before the commissioner that a negro boy delivered the package to the jail, and that Mrs. Senter had met the boy near the state capitol and hired him to take the package to the Tower.

Admitting that she had given the package to the negro boy, Mrs. Senter denied that she knew what was mixed in with the coffee, and said that another woman gave her the package and asked her to carry it to the jail. The husband of the woman, Mrs. Senter named, appeared before the commissioner and denied that his wife had even seen Mrs. Senter on Sunday.

FLORIDA TO BUY PETERSBURG RADIO PLANT FOR STATE

Tallahassee, Fla., September 12.—(AP)—First steps towards establishing the proposed state-owned radio broadcasting station at the University of Florida, Tallahassee, and Jacksonville, were taken today at a meeting of the state board of control.

The board, after hearing requests for immediate action from delegations from Gainesville and Tallahassee, voted to accept a proposal for the two cities to take over and underwrite the wave length of station WBBN, of St. Petersburg, with the note that the board consider taking it over for the state-owned station at the next meeting of the board, to be held at Gainesville in October.

The legislature of 1927 authorized the station, and appropriated $100,000 from the general inspection fund of the state department of agriculture for its construction and maintenance.

The station, if established, would broadcast from the University of Florida, with remote control branches at the Florida State College for Women and the dome of the state capitol here and at the state marketing bureau at Jacksonville.

HOLMES SCHOOL OPENS WITH BIG ATTENDANCE

The Holmes institute opened Monday morning with the largest enrollment in its history.

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president, in delivering the annual address to the students and patrons said, "There was never a time in the history of the world that all vocations in life require special service than at the present time. It is the duty of all parents and guardians of children to give them an industrial education aside from the regular course, in order that they may be good citizens."

The night school opened and the principal address was delivered by Rev. J. H. McFarlin.

VALERA DENIES PLAN TO REVOLT

Dublin, Irish Free State, September 12.—(AP)—Eamon de Valera, republican leader, issued a manifesto today, which appeared as an advertisement in the newspapers, denying emphatically that he had any intention of fomenting a revolutionary movement, and promising that if his party is returned to power, the people shall be "taken into the fullest consultation," on important questions involving their safety.

The manifesto reads: "By its action in entering the daily circuit recently the fianna fail has already given earnest that in pursuit of its ideals it is prepared to face and accept existing reality. If returned in the majority and entrusted with power it hopes to prove that hard-headed common sense is not incompatible with true national idealism. The sinister design of aiming at bringing about a sudden revolutionary upheaval, with which our opponents choose to credit us, is altogether foreign to our purpose and program. We do not believe in attempting to practice sleight of hand on the electorate. We shall proceed as a responsible constitutional government, acknowledging without reserve all authority that comes through sovereign people and that before any important step likely to involve their safety is taken, the people are entitled to be taken into the fullest consultation."

"Stubborn political and economic facts are, of necessity, the base from which any successful advance must be made. A nation cannot march on an empty stomach. Our first and most strenuous effort must accordingly be devoted to repairing the present economic ruin."

DETROIT-MIAMI PLANE

TO REACH HERE TODAY

asm over the initial journey, which is to be followed on November 7 by regular weekly 11-hour schedules with two larger and faster planes.

Will Leave For Atlanta

The party will take off for Atlanta tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. A three-hour trip has been allowed for, but with a favorable tail wind such as Pilot C. B. Swinson encountered south of Cincinnati this afternoon, the arrival may be moved up.

"This is purely a path finding tour," Wakefield explained. "Head winds and other causes of delay were all taken into consideration."

He said the final schedule had not been worked out, but contemplated arrival in Nashville at noon and a stop over for lunch on the landing field itself of about an hour and a half. An accommodation plane will also run to accommodation at Nashville and Atlanta.

The visitors, officials of the transport company and their guests, waited at the hotel for the arrival of the assembled well-wishers and then enjoyed an hour and a half motor trip to the Old Hickory powder plant and the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson. A banquet was given them at the chamber of commerce meeting tonight.

Leaves Ford Plant

The Ford tri-motor plane left the Ford Motor Plant at 8:40 a. m., landing at Cincinnati 11:30. It took off at 2:15, Cincinnati time.

The trip, measured roughly about 965 miles, will eventually be made in nine and half hours flying time. Wakefield said. "Approximately 95 miles would have been covered by route through Knoxville but our surveys indicated we would get 90 per cent better flying weather the year round by avoiding the mountain fogs and low visibilities," he said.

Toddy Wakefield's guests enjoyed rubbers of bridge in the cabin, with only an occasional jolt from a refractory air current.

WRECKAGE OF OLD GLORY IS FOUND

MONOPLANE OLD GLORY MISSING SINCE SEPT. 6.

New York, September 12.—(AP)—The monoplane Old Glory, sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, which took off from Old Orchard, Me., at 12:30 p. m., E. S. T., Tuesday, September 6, carrying Pilots Lloyd W. Bertaud and James D. Hill and Philip A. Payne, managing editor of the Daily Mirror, is a passenger, disappeared in the early morning of September 7. The plane last was sighted by the steamship California at midnight Tuesday about 350 miles to sea off the Newfoundland coast.

Four hours later an S. O. S. was heard by the steamers Carmania, Lapland and Transylvania, followed by a message giving the location of the Old Glory in distress as "five hours' out of Newfoundland, east." All three vessels rushed to the rescue.

Wide areas near the source of the S. O. S. were scoured during the night hours of Wednesday, but no trace of the ill-fated plane or its occupants was found although officers, crews and passengers on the ships maintained the keenest scrutiny of the rough seas.

The steamship Kyle was chartered by the Daily Mirror and last Saturday put out to search for the missing flier. Rewards totalling $25,000 for the finding of the men already had been offered by Mr. Hearst, backer of the flight.

FUEL IS LACKING FOR WORLD FLIERS.

Midway Island, T. H., September 12.—(AP)—The fliers, William S. Brock and Edward P. Schlee, of the monoplane Pride of Detroit, have sent inquiries here concerning gas and oil. These supplies have not arrived, and in consequence it is believed the flight across the Pacific cannot be made by way of these islands.

Midway Islands, used as a call station, are 2,400 miles from Tokyo, where the fliers are due tomorrow, and 1,440 miles from Honolulu.

FLIERS HELD UP BY BAD WEATHER.

Tokyo, September 13.—(AP)—Dispatches from Omura said that stormy weather is holding up the flight of the American round-the-world monoplane, the Pride of Detroit, there. William S. Brock and Edward P. Schlee, co-pilots of the ship, had intended to leave from Tokyo today, but they are expected to wait now until tomorrow, unless the weather improves.

FIRMLY EXPECT TO HO PACIFIC.

Omura, Japan, September 12.—(AP)—Edward P. Schlee and William S. Brock, co-pilots of the round-the-world monoplane Pride of Detroit, told the Associated Press here today that they firmly expected to fly from Japan to Midway Island, then to Honolulu and on to San Francisco, soon.

The announcement that Brock and Schlee contemplate going ahead with their round-the-world flight by crossing the Pacific according to their original schedule would mean that they intend to ignore the rising opposition to overseas flights and to tackle an undertaking which has been branded as "suicide."

Earlier advices from Omura indicated that they were somewhat downhearted over the prospects. In addition to the official and unofficial disapproval of further "stunt" flights across great bodies of water by or dispiritedly-equipped land planes, Mrs. Schlee's cables her husband from Detroit advising him to use his own judgment in deciding whether to continue. J. V. Walker, the Tokio representative of the fliers, has pronounced his opposition to a flight from Japan to Midway Island.

Japanese fliers believe a hop from Tokyo to Midway Island, more than 2,400 miles, would be suicidal. Midway is but a dot in the Pacific and would be difficult to find even with the best of navigation. At Midway, again, fliers would have a 1,400-mile gap of water to Honolulu and then another 2,400-mile stretch of sea to San Francisco.

BLUEBIRD MAY TRY HOP THIS YEAR.

Paris, September 12.—(AP)—In spite of the disasters which have befallen the latest attempt at trans-Atlantic fliers, there still is a possibility that the Farman Bluebird, piloted by Leon Givon, will attempt the crossing to New York within a fortnight.

The Farman company announced tonight that the plane and pilot are ready to take off any time before September 25, the latest date now is the weather until that date which is considered the latest possible for a flight to the west this year.

KOENNECKE INSISTS HE WILL MAKE FLIGHT.

Cologne, Germany, September 12.—(AP)—Koennecke, German flier, has been grooming his Caspar bi-plane Germania for a trans-Atlantic flight, today said that his flight was temporarily postponed, but by no means abandoned.

He made the statement as he boarded a German Aerial league plane for Paris for the announced purpose of securing some material which he was unable to obtain during a recent trip to Berlin.

Koennecke declined to say whether by postponement of the flight he meant until next year or until some time this fall. Both he and his financial supporter, Captain Soltau, have been displaying some unwillingness to talk concerning their immediate plans.

PLANE WRECKAGE IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Halifax, N. S., September 12.—(AP)—Partly submerged wreckage of an airplane found about three weeks ago by a French fishing schooner about 300 miles east of here was reported today by officers of the French hospital ship Jeanne d'Arc to whom the discovery was communicated.

The wreckage was a "yellowish color with black lettering," according to the fishermen's report. The fishing schooner was about 250 miles off the coast of Nova Scotia.

COURTNEY TO COMPLETE FOR SCHNEIDER CUP.

Corunna, Spain, September 12.—(United News).—Discouraged by persistent bad weather, Captain Courtney has decided to abandon his Plymouth, Eng., to New York seaplane flight and go instead to Venice, Italy, to compete for the Schneider cup, he said today.

Courtney expects to leave Wednesday.

AIRPLANE WRECKAGE IS WASHED ASHORE.

Newquay, England, September 12.—(United News).—The rudder and part of the wing of an airplane were washed ashore here today.

The wreckage is being forwarded to London for examination and possible identification.

The rudder was covered with silver gray fabric, and the wing was painted black on one side and white on the other.

Newquay, near the southwest corner of the southwestern tip of Ireland, where trans-Atlantic planes often land or first see land if on their course.

It is roughly in the course of a plane flying between Paris and Ireland, and is not too far from the course of a London-Ireland plane.

SUPPORT OF COURTNEY FLIGHT WITHDRAWN.

London, September 12.—(United News).—The Westminster Gazette, one of the sponsors of the proposed Plymouth, Eng.-New York seaplane flight of Captain Courtney, announced today that it had withdrawn its support "and that the flight therefore may be considered as abandoned."

The Westminster Gazette several days ago offered to release Courtney from his contract, following recent trans-Atlantic airplane disasters.

But Courtney, held by the weather at Corunna, Spain, said that he still wanted to try the flight.

ALFONSO APPROVES SPANISH ASSEMBLY

Madrid, September 12.—(AP)—The convocation of a national assembly has been made possible by a decree signed by King Alfonso at San Sebastian today. The motives of such convocation on the fourth anniversary of Primo de Rivera's seizure of power is somewhat of a mystery.

It is believed that the government will permit the assembly to make any real decisions, and it is understood that its principal tasks will be to draw up a new electoral law and a new constitution.

The Spanish constitution can be changed only by a constituent cortes elected for that purpose. Should the coming assembly submit a proposal to alter the constitution, this will depend on the approval of the king, which means naturally that of the monarch's personal approval.

Primo de Rivera, the dictator, seems to be expected of the assembly, in the view of government supporters, is that should any strong drift of national opinion be manifested in its deliberations, it would be bound to have its influence on the present dictatorship.

It is said further that Primo de Rivera considers that the convocation of a national assembly will afford a better means of dealing with the nation by proclamation of the anniversary of the dictatorship. This preamble probably will indicate the reason for convoking an assembly and the work the assembly will be called on to do.

BANKERS SEEKING GERMAN POLICY

Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and By JOHN STEELE.
London, September 12.—Underneath all the maneuvering for position between France, Germany and Great Britain, at Geneva, the problem of the Dawes plan is in the background and the opinion in financial circles in London is growing that some revision of the plan must come before long.

There has been a serious difference of opinion on the future of Germany between Benjamin D. Moore, president of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, and Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England. Since the war these two have been working together. Strong, it is said, has been taking the lead from Norman on most things, but at their last meeting differences developed regarding a policy toward Germany.

Strong, it is said, is alarmed at the heavy borrowing by Germany and believes it is simply paying the service on various old loans and the Dawes plan out of its fresh borrowings and that a crash is bound to come before long, when the Dawes plan will be endangered.

He also has much less confidence in the German willingness to pay than the British, and he protested against the policy of evacuating the Rhine-land before a final clear settlement of the reparations problem is impossible.

It is said that Strong is now trying to form a close alliance with the Bank of France, independent of his relations with the Bank of England, thus making New York the real financial capital.

The British diplomats are much alarmed at this move. Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain has had the courage to speak out his mind at Geneva about the relations of Great Britain to the League of Nations, and it is said that his speech goes far to justify the American attitude toward the league. Great Britain no more than America likes to have British and American interests in Europe and Asia less leaving the privilege of paying all the time for work done in behalf of small half developed nations.

Wife of Levine Seeking to Bar Flight to India

New York, September 12.—(United News).—Mrs. Charles A. Levine, wife of the well-known amateur aviator, spent five minutes of trans-Atlantic telephone conversation Monday trying to dissuade her husband from attempting a non-stop flight to Calcutta.

Mrs. Levine succeeded, only in extracting a promise from her impetuous spouse that he would consider it and let her know by telephone Thursday.

London called the Levine residence at Belle Harbor at the dinner hour. Levine, speaking from the Hotel Savoy in London, greeted his wife.

"You're sure you have given up the idea of flying home," Mrs. Levine asked anxiously.

"Yes, I have," said the voice from London. "It doesn't seem now as though the weather will clear for any Atlantic flight until around May, but I tell me, I've abandoned my plans to come home by plane."

"When are you starting home?" asked Mrs. Levine.

The answer precipitated five minutes of entreaties during which Mrs. Levine utterly ignored the mounting toll.

ESTATE OF TIMKEN DAUGHTER CENTER OF LEGAL ATTACK

New York, September 12.—(AP)—A legal battle for control and an accounting of the estate of one of the daughters of the late Henry Timken, retired St. Louis carriage manufacturer, who with his sons, founded the Timken Roller Bearing company, was started here today.

The opening gun in what promises to be a long, drawn-out and involved procedure, came with the filing of a petition in the New York county surrogate's court by John H. Fry, whose wife, who died in 1921, was a daughter of Henry Timken, for the removal of the Fifth Avenue Bank of New York, and its attorney, Herbert M. Teets, as executors of the state of Georgia Timken Fry. The estate was valued at about $100,000.

Mrs. Fry was one of three daughters, each of whom received from their father, who, after his retirement in 1890, had moved to San Diego, Calif., an equal number of shares of Timken company stock which he had received for the money he advanced his sons, Henry R., of Canton, Ohio, and William R., of New York, to start the business. For 20 years the Timken company stock paid dividends of 100 per cent on the original capital.

Positive Relief For Itch

First. Don't scratch. Scratching simply irritates and spreads the disease, often inducing blood poisoning.

Second. A pleasant ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective germ-destroying and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and permanent relief.

Tetterine, through its clean, cooling, soothing, antiseptic effect, kills the germs that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold and guaranteed by all druggists at 60c for a large box, or sent direct postpaid upon receipt of price. Shuptrine Co., Desk D, Savannah, Ga.—(adv.)

No Abatement Of Sweltering Weather Seen

Hot weather and more of it, is the word of the meteorological service, which in characterizing the forecast for Atlanta and Georgia today.

Clear blue skies will leave the sun unhampered in its task of enforcing the dictum that "they shall earn their bread by the sweat of their brow."

According to C. F. von Herrmann, chief of the government meteorological station here, today's forecast for Atlanta is fair weather with a continuance of high temperatures. By no less an authority it is predicted that the same weather conditions will prevail throughout Georgia.

On Monday, for the fourth time this month, the mercury will reach the bell at the 91-degree mark—the highest for September and only three points under the season's maximum, reached in July with 94. An effort as great as that put forth Monday is expected to be shown by the thermometer bulb today. The minimum of 72 degrees, for Monday, is also scheduled to be duplicated today.

Midsummer weather prolonging its stay into September is not unusual for Atlanta, the weather man asserted. A continuance of this weather is not improbable, there being no rains or winds in sight to bring relief, he said.

2 BOYS SET PRICE ON COASTER RIDES AT $25 PER EACH

Orange Lake, N. J., September 12.—The high price of roller coasting has set a record. The boys to set it firmly were Ross Farrell and S. A. Senack, of Orange Lake. They took a ride on the roller coaster at Orange Lake amusement park. But they wouldn't pay the ten cents each, demanded of them, at the finish.

"The ride's too short," they said.

The police gave them a longer one to the chambers of Judge Clarence Warford. He fined them $25 each.

Chronic Head Colds

A Simple Method of Prevention

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble.

That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are a simple method of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or cubebs, and being harmless, are used by children as well as adults.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, plain nasal catarrh, catarrhal deafness, hoarseness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritation, or are subject to frequent colds, get from any druggist a pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.—(adv.)

Tunney Will Receive $100,000 For Title Fight

Judge Refuses To Halt Bout At Chicago

Dempsey Will Get $425,000. Champ Faces Suit for $15,000.

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—All financial arrangements for the Dempsey-Tunney battle of September 22 were settled here tonight, and certified checks for $1,000,000, Tunney's purse, and $450,000, Dempsey's share, were posted with the Illinois state athletic commission.

Forfeit of $25,000 and $10,000 were posted in behalf of Tunney and Dempsey and the boxing commission gave its final approval of the contracts and of the match. At the same time, Tex Rickard and George Gitz signed the lease of Soldier Field stadium, the battle ground, and paid the $100,000 rental.

The new figure exceeds by $300,000 the record sum Dempsey and Tunney are supposed to have split at Philadelphia last fall. Jack's end was set at over $700,000, while Tunney was credited with receiving slightly more than $400,000.

The new contracts, arranged by Rickard over the weekend with the champion and the boxing commission, gave the original agreement which gave the two fighters an option of a percentage of the purse. The new terms give them the flat guarantee embodied in their pay checks handed to the boxing commission tonight, and no further participation in Rickard's hoped-for $500,000 gate.

Checks Handed In. Rickard, his lawyers and the boxing commission spent the afternoon drawing up the fight arrangements to conform with the Illinois law. Signatures were affixed and the checks handed over at 9 p. m.

The agreement will take the place of a formal appearance before the state athletic commission at its regular weekly session tomorrow. Since Chairman John C. Richeimer of the commission, participated in the conference with Rickard, acceptance of the papers tomorrow will be only a formality.

The million-dollar certified check is just twenty times as large a sum as has been posted with the Illinois commission. Rocky Rouse was given a $50,000 guarantee for his unsuccessful defense of his lightweight title in Illinois' first fight under the new law, a year ago.

JUDGE REFUSES

TO HALT BOUT.

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Judge Otto Kerner, in circuit court today, refused to stop the Dempsey-Tunney fight here September 22, when he denied an injunction to restrain Jack Dempsey from boxing until he carried out an alleged contract with the Coliseum club of Chicago to fight Harry Wills, negro heavyweight.

While Dempsey was getting out of court proceedings, Tunney was becoming entangled in legal matters. Thomas M. McHale, of New York, who said he was Tunney's social secretary, said he was Tunney's social secretary.

"BO" READ.

Bo Read, who used to be called Robert before Bo McMillin was heard of in this part of the country, can be counted upon to do a good share of the ball lugging at Tech this fall. It marks Bo's third year on the varsity, the first two being served in the pony backfield. But, with all the light, fast backs on hand at Tech this year, Bo is expected to pull off some more long runs on the order of last season.

Light—He weighs only 154 pounds—Bo manages to cover the ground in fast fashion and has a way of eluding would-be tacklers that is nice to watch.

Read prepped at Marietta, and was playing halfback on the Marietta High varsity when Bo McMillin and the Centurion Colonels came to town. You'll probably remember how fast Mr. McMillin and his company of footballers were. Well, Read never slows himself in those Cobb county days, and they said he ran something like McMillin. Therefore the "Bo."

Jacket Squad Put Through Tough Session

Mack Tharpe and Fitzgerald Report for Duty at Flats.

BY BEN COTHMAN

Tech's Jackets received a stiff mental as well as physical workout as the opener to the second week of football practice Monday afternoon when Coach Alexander herded the squad into one of the lecture rooms of the school and lectured and quizzed them on signals and new plays for an hour or more.

Following that, the boys departed for the dressing rooms and a short time later took the field for a regular workout. Fitzgerald showed up Monday, and with his arrival, every man is now in camp.

Hot Day For Work. The afternoon was hotter than the previous ones but the coaches showed no let up, and as soon as setting-up exercises were over, Alex, in every body, with the exception of a few backs, doing the catching, going down under punts. Parham, Oitz and Mizell were doing the booting, and Oitz, just recently turned sophomore, was getting height and distance that equalled Parham's. Mizell's punting was only fair.

The value of following the ball on a punt, and when to stop it and when not to were the points of this lesson as brought out by Alex in a forcible manner.

Mack Tharpe, prominent tackle at Tech last year, and who will assist Kid Clay in coaching the rats this fall, was on hand for practice Monday, along with Ike Williams, the young man whose boot gave Tech a 3-to-0 victory over Georgia in 1925.

Mack and Kid expect around 150 from candidates to report to them on Thursday or Friday of this week. According to advance reports, it'll not only be a big squad but a square of good men and Kid is looking forward to a good season such as he had last year.

Near Scrimmage. Bill Fincher put his linemen through a workout Monday that was something bordering on scrimmage. To vary the monotony of dummy work, Bill stationed two men in front of the dummy, and the man who was tackling had to charge through this pair before making his tackle. The whole bunch was in a rather in a few minutes, while Bill looked on and enjoyed himself.

While all this was going on Don Mack had the backs down in the lower end of the playing field running plays, and specializing on the job of tackling out any opposing end that might come charging in and try to mess up the play.

Hank Bjorkman had his ends gathered around, receiving fumbled balls and blocking tackles. The coaches of a long and lengthy signal drill, with the squad divided into several teams ended a long, hot, weary workout for the squad.

Everybody is in good condition and ready for the first scrimmage due sometime the latter part of the week.

HAWKEYEING SHORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Atlanta and the Pennant.

There's a lot of talk about the Crackers not figuring in the Southern league pennant race since a few weeks ago when the charges of Mr. Niehoff stepped on a banana's overcoat and took to the skids.

Taint so. Negatively speaking, the Crax have decided the Southern league pennant race during the past few weeks. They dropped eight out of nine games to the Pels in the last two series and added their last ironic touch Monday when they slapped the Barons in the first game of a series here. This little play showed the Barons two and one-half games back of the Pels and nothing but a veritable miracle will give them the pennant.

The little tale of the dog in the manger is very applicable to the Crackers in so far as they are related to Birmingham this season.

The Yellow Jacket Spirit.

The other day Don Miller said: "The spirit at Tech this fall is better than I have seen in any sport since I have been here."

Naturally, a statement of that nature from Don Miller aroused some curiosity and we watched a complete practice Saturday with the avowed intention of trying to poke a hole in Don's statement.

But we failed miserably. As anyone knows who has ever gone through a football training schedule, there is nothing but hard work for the candidates. The natural tendency among the players to let down on the morale at times just to lessen the nerve strain. A bit of foolery is likely to be seen almost any time on the practice gridiron. But we watched for nearly three hours at Tech flats Saturday and we have yet to see a smile.

There is one big reason behind this spirit at Tech and that reason may be named rivalry. With a very few exceptions, every position on the varsity squad is an open target to be shot at by at least three men and each of these three men knows that he stands a fine chance to get the berth if he keeps plugging.

There is also the feeling at Tech this season that the "first-string" squad will be made up of far more than 11 men. From all appearances there will be at least two full teams who will function with practically equal ability.

In the backfield, particularly, is this true. The varsity backs who have a year of experience from last season have reason to believe that a few sophomores, playing their first year on the varsity, will push them for their laurels. And that's what makes fight on a football squad.

The "Also Ran."

Various reports on the S. I. A. football menu for this fall are at hand and in practically all of them the Purple Hurricane of Furman is passed by with an "also-ran" label pasted conspicuously on the vehicle.

We have different reports from certain alumni who have visited the old campus during the past few days. There is nothing to work on except dogs before the beginning of practice, but we fail to see why Furman should not figure in this dope.

The fact is that the Hurricane has lost but one varsity man, of any importance from the 1926 squad and Billy Laval ranks among the best coaches in the S. I. A. A.

New Wrinkle In Training Used by Jack

Dempsey Works Out Under Huge Flood Lights at Night.

Lincoln Fields, Crete, Ill., September 12.—(AP)—Setting into a new order of things in which newspapermen but little part, Jack Dempsey today punched the light and heavy bags five rounds for exercise—and for the benefit of the scribes. Tonight behind closely guarded walls of canvas and without single "war correspondent" on the premises, Jack was scheduled to beset his sparring mates for "Dempsey four rounds."

Dempsey switched training plans last night when he worked out in secret for four rounds under powerful flood lights on the race track lawn. He announced after the drill that representatives of the press would see him only at his afternoon exercise during the ten days intervening before the title match with Gene Tunney at Soldier's field. Today Jack promised the scribes a "last look" next Sunday night when the former champion is scheduled to finish boxing.

Jack worked hard today on the leather sacks. He sharpened his range for four rounds on the light bag before turning loose a vicious two-hand-barrage on the 200-pound boxing bag. Only a half minute rest was allowed between rounds. A few minutes of abdominal exercise completed a day that began with five miles of road work early this morning.

Flynn explained that Dempsey's work under powerful lights would prepare him for the glare of the huge lamps and searchlights that will brighten the arena for 165,000 fans September 22. After winning the heavyweight crown Dempsey fought only Bill Brennan, Louis Firpo, Jack Sharkey and Gene Tunney at night. Gene landed a solid right the first round at Philadelphia last fall and Sharkey gave the former titleholder a rough session in the first round of their New York tussle.

"This is one battle Jack will not enter blinking under strange lights," Flynn concluded.

MILTON SILLS STAR IN 'DIFFERENT' WAR PICTURE AT MET

A world war story, quite different from the usual thing, with its flare of trumpets and roll of drums, reels of "battle" scenes and the mud of no-man's-land, is told in "Hard Boiled Haggerty," showing this week at the Metropolitan theater.

There is very little battle in this new Milton Sills picture. In fact, the only action shown is "Haggerty's" triumph over a German ace, and this is necessary to the continuity of the film to demonstrate just how hard-boiled this Haggerty fellow is. The plot revolves around Haggerty's habitual "A. W. O. L." after each victory, and his meeting with a little girl, who proves that down in his heart, he is not so hard-boiled after all.

The story is charming, and, as is the rule with Sills' pictures, is told without unnecessary frills and embellishments. Molly O'Day makes a mighty pretty heroine. She plays a dual role, that of twin sisters; one a nice girl and the other a lady of the streets.

Well, true love will triumph, and the picture ends happily. "Hard Boiled Haggerty" is a fine afternoon's entertainment for the movie-goer, and is accompanied by Bobby Vernon in one of his laughable skits, "Wife Shy." Then, too, there is some excellent music to go along with the picture.

FEATURE PICTURE, 'UNDERWORLD,' HIT OF HOWARD BILL

A thrilling, and in spots, intensely gripping photoplay of the underworld is showing at the Howard theater this week under the very apt title of "Underworld," it being adapted from a story by Ben Hecht. The entire program this week is decidedly above the average.

The story of "Underworld," with one or two exceptions, is pretty much the same as any other crook story, but it is in the directorial and camera treatment that the picture is made to stand head and shoulders above any other cinema of like nature that can be called to mind.

Then, too, credit is due George Bancroft, who has the powerful and strangely interesting role of "Bull" Weed, and who portrays it almost perfectly; and in lesser degrees to Evelyn Brent, who is seen as "Bull's" girl, and Clive Brook, who gives a very nicely restrained performance in the part of "Rolls Royce," the derelict lawyer who is "rescued" by "Bull."

As a whole, it may be unreservedly recommended and regardless of whether you like crook stories or not, it's a pretty safe bet that "Underworld" will win your approval.

Edith Griffith—same Edith but new shingle—stopped the show with her offering Monday night, and the charming personality that won out-of-the-ordinary recognition for her on her previous appearance sent 'em stamping for more at the last night show. The Misses Stanley and Lee, clever dancers, also received a great hand. Ross and Gilbert, and Davy White held up the male side well.

FATTY ARBUCKLE SCORES BIG HIT AT LOEW'S GRAND

Atlanta will hold out a helping hand to Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle when he endeavors to win success in the motion picture game in the near future judging from the cordial reception accorded the rotund screen comedian by audiences at Loew's Grand theater Monday when Arbuckle appeared as the headline attraction of the vaudeville bill.

Unlike many screen stars who appear on the stage in person "Fatty" Arbuckle really entertains the crowds and provides the customers with their money's worth with his comedy act. Bringing some real new jokes, with his pleasing personality "Fatty" literally "knocked 'em cold" at his performances Monday and led the crowds applauding and calling for more.

Arbuckle's act is a monologue for part of the time and then he works with Paul Burns and Walter Kane, who precede him on the bill, in some real clever fun making. Arbuckle does a dance step or two and closes his turn with a song number which brings some real new jokes, with his pleasing personality "Fatty" literally "knocked 'em cold" at his performances Monday and led the crowds applauding and calling for more.

The comedian will give receptions for children at the matinee performance Thursday and Saturday while Friday night he will preside at a real old-fashioned "amateur night" where a prize of $25 will be given the winner.

Arbuckle is supported by an excellent bill of vaudeville. The work of Burns and Kane in their absurd skit "Broadening" is of unusual merit. Kane is a real comedian himself and kept the crowd roaring with laughter all the time he was on the stage. His fun develops spontaneously and the act is enlivened by numerous jokes that have the merit of freshness.

The Parisian Trio in "Moving In" scored one of the big hits of the program in a surprising novelty comedy turn. Al Siegel and Dick Robertson won success with some song numbers while Joe Small's "Seven Stylish Steppers" offered some pleasing dance numbers, one of the girls scoring a big hit with a special dance.

Arbuckle's program is accompanied by Jackie Coogan's latest picture, "The Bugle Call," which is an exceptionally good picture, produced on a stupendous scale with some tense dramatic moments and some real live comedy.

CAPITOL OFFERS FINEST PROGRAM OF MANY WEEKS

Music—alluring, appealing, stirring music—the kind that every lover of sweet sound owes it to himself to hear, and a versatile bill of other sets come to make the offering at the Capitol theater this week one of the best seen in Atlanta this season. A packed house acclaimed the program Monday night, and forced the performers to answer many extra curtain calls.

Several weeks ago this critic visited the Capitol and wrote a criticism which branded the feature attractions as mediocre. Monday night, the offering were excellent, the music was charged with an attraction which has seldom been heard from an Atlanta stage or some performance staged by highly trained technicians.

If you love good music, go to the Capitol this week. It's there, and there are other bright spots on the bill in addition.

Mme. Donatella, heralded as the world's greatest tambourineist, and her troupe in a presentation of "Carnival of Venice" are real artists. They run the gamut of versatility, and include many popular numbers in their repertoire. The stage setting is appealing and beautiful.

Other good numbers include Roy LaPearl, aerialist; Raymond Bond with Sullivan & Company, a troupe of ladies, easy to look at, in "Good-night"; Doris Roche, offering a medley of humorous songs and songs; Franklin Brothers, equilibrist.

The feature picture, "The Joy Girl," is clever and has a good plot. "Broadening" is of unusual merit. Kane is a real comedian himself and kept the crowd roaring with laughter all the time he was on the stage. His fun develops spontaneously and the act is enlivened by numerous jokes that have the merit of freshness.

IRISH-JEWISH FILM AT RIALTO THEATER HAS LOGICAL PLOT

It is very seldom that a show appears that has more real comedy and dramatic value than "Clancy's Kosher Wedding," which is playing at the Rialto theater.

For once an Irish-Jewish picture has a logical plot, and the comedy really is part of the story, not mere gag fragments in relief to the bit of a poor story. "Clancy's Kosher Wedding" deals kindly with all its characters and cannot offend anyone. There is no wild and crazy, though the fun is mostly of the slapstick kind, there is a note of real pathos running through the story, and this seems to give the film a real personal note.

The acting is exceptionally good. George Sidney, as the Jewish father, is his usual clever self, and, strong, in the Irish role, is an equally clever foil. Rex Lease and Sharon Lynn are delightful in their happy little romance, and the whole cast moves smoothly and logically through their appointed roles.

SISTERS, "SINGLES," COMEDIANS, SONGS GREAT AT KEITH'S

Two "singles" on one vaudeville bill usually make the said bill a dry affair, but not when personable Madeline Patrice and talented Buddy Doyle occupy the one spots, as is the case at Keith's Georgia theater this week when an aggregation listed for some, or no reason at all, as "Orpheum Road Show No. 7" is holding forth.

You might get the impression right away that these two hog the honors, but they couldn't, not with Trevor sisters, Eddie Shubert and a whole flock of chorines possessing out-of-the-ordinary good looks, in the fray.

John Monroe and Tom Grant open up with a bouncing bit and a line of comedy, and they go over well in both elements. Madeline Patrice, in "An Interlude of Melody"—with not

$1,399,053 PAID TO COOLIDGE VIEWS TOBACCO GROWERS RESERVE BATTLE

A total of $1,391,053.44 was paid for 60,213,972 pounds of tobacco grown in Georgia in 1927, according to the official report issued Monday by the Georgia cooperative crop reporting service, Marcus P. McWhorter, statistician for the state department of agriculture. According to the report, the average price paid this year was 18.92 cents.

While all markets in the state have been closed since the report was made, these figures represent the totals for the year. The final official report will be issued soon, the reporting service says.

While this year's crop broke all records for poundage and money brought, the average price paid per pound this year was considerably lower than that of 1926, when it averaged 13.33 cents per pound.

Student Chases Thief for Mile, Then Kills Him

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.) Chicago, Ill., September 12.—(AP) Krog, 24, student, tonight surprised a burglar in his home, fought him all over the place, chased him a mile through streets and alleys, followed him onto a moving street car and finally shot him dead as he leaped from the front end.

The burglar, whose identity was not known, was taken to a hospital but died after a bullet in his head before he got there.

Krog told the police he let himself into his home about 9:30 p. m., and was immediately confronted by the burglar who had finished ransacking the house. Krog reached for the hand holding the revolver pointed at him and the struggle began.

"I fought him from room to room from the front to rear and back to the front again," he kept trying to hit me with the revolver. Finally he got loose and ran out of the house."

The youth said he ran to his bedroom, shed his revolver from a drawer and followed him. The man led him through alleys and over fences, back to the streets and through yards and finally leaped on a street car which was passing. Krog now was right behind him.

Women screamed and men leaped from their seats as the burglar brandishing his revolver ran through the car with Krog behind him. Krog fired just as the man leaped out of the front end of the car and the burglar fell to the pavement.

HOME OF PAYNE SOON TO BECOME PUBLIC SHRINE

East Hampton, N. Y., September 12.—(United News)—The original "Home Sweet Home" of all the world, the colonial cottage in which John Howard Payne, author of the famous song "Home, Sweet Home," was born, may be made a public shrine in this Long Island village.

Fearing that the property, now in the hands of a trust company, may pass into possession of persons who would sacrifice its furnishings, wealthy New Yorkers and natives joined in a public meeting Sunday to ask the village to purchase it.

A string of sentiment in three wealthy New Yorkers has caused them to offer to purchase the Payne cottage for $50,000 and either to hold it or transfer possession to the village for the purchase price as local authorities see fit.

The "Home Sweet Home" cottage is supposed to have been built in 1664. The property is valued at $40,000 and its furnishings, including rare lustre China and old silver, at $20,000.

Homerun King Denies He Slammed Cripple

New York, September 12.—(AP) John Doe, the sultan of swat, accused of swatting Bernard Neimeyer, a cripple, in the eye last July 4, will resume his defense in West we court Friday that he must have been a couple of other fellows.

John Doe (his) "twas the Babe himself" denied indignantly that he was the roving Sir Launcelot who socked Neimeyer on Broadway Independence day night under the apprehension that Neimeyer had insulted two women passersby.

"I was in Garfield, N. J., all that night and I never saw this man before in my life," the man of 50 home runs told Magistrate Stern. Ruth's face, as he listened to Neimeyer's story, wrinkled into the puzzled expression familiar to umpires who call third strikes on high outside ones.

Neimeyer, an interior decorator 49 years old, said he gazed after the receding form of a big fellow who unexpectedly lunged a grandiose clout under his right eye, shouting:

"Who are you? Where do you live? I'm going to have you arrested!" Neimeyer, a big fellow who was answered by the wave of a mighty hand and the sound of a mighty voice: "Everybody knows me. I live at Sixty-ninth street and West End avenue."

But Neimeyer, cloistered follower of the gentler arts, said he didn't know who it was until he heard the crowd around exclaimed, "that's Babe Ruth!"

He became more interested in the identity of this person, Neimeyer said, when he appealed to a policeman to act at once, and the policeman advised: "Gwan, beat it."

Charming Gowns and Manikins Feature First of Fashion Shows at Davison-Paxon's

The upper picture presents Misses Dorothy Tallaferra, Thelma Cantey, Frances Hargis, Dorothy Springer, Elizabeth Watkins and Mrs. Mollie Belle Boozer, models who displayed exclusive gowns at the fashion show staged in the restaurant-auditorium on the sixth floor of Davison-Paxon company, affiliated with Macy's, of New York.

The figures in the lower group include Misses Dorothy Springer, Dorothy Tallaferra and Mollie Belle Boozer. Kenneth Rogers made the pictures.

By Bessie S. Stafford Editor Woman's Department.
Six beautiful and stylish girls endowed with Elinor Glyn's famous "It" stepped from a massive gilt picture frame onto a velvet-covered runway, gowned in the exclusive costumes they displayed in the elaborately staged fashion show, which ran for an hour Monday afternoon on the sixth floor at the Davison-Paxon company, affiliated with Macy's of New York.

The fashion exhibitions will be continued twice daily through Friday at 3 and 8 o'clock. A special "fashion dinner" will be held Thursday at 6:30 o'clock in connection with the show. Covers will be available for 400 reservations to be made by telephoning the store's restaurant. Original models from Sally Milgrim and American adaptations from Paton, Lelong, Lanvin and other leading designers were exhibited at Monday afternoon's show by Misses Dorothy Tallaferra, Thelma Cantey, Frances Hargis, Dorothy Springer, Elizabeth Watkins and Mrs. Mollie Belle Boozer to the joy and delectation of hundreds of spectators.

Treading in graceful measure to the lilting strains of Vic Meyers' orchestra, these attractive mannequins paraded in morning, afternoon and evening costumes, fashioned from transparent velvet, lustrous satin, silk, tulle and chiffon.

The illuminating spotlight revealed Miss Watkins in a Sally Milgrim creation of midnight blue faille, the side drapery presenting an uneven hemline and lined with French blue faille. Long, rather snugly fitting sleeves were richly embroidered on the outside and the waist introduced the ultra-new "V" neckline. A blue felt hat and sable necklace completed the ensemble. A sumptuous-looking gold brocade, combined with brown chiffon velvet, a small hat of gold lace and a brown velvet coat trimmed with sable kolinsky prepared Mrs. Mollie Belle Boozer for a bride-to-be or reception and a blond of gold lace in a yellow chiffon evening gown encrusted in glittering sequins, worn underneath a coat of yellow transparent velvet, colored in natural stone marten.

4 HURT IN SERIES OF AUTO MISHAPS

Four persons were injured in a series of minor accidents in Atlanta traffic Monday, records at police headquarters show.

J. H. Porter, of 554 Boulevard place and his brother, Billups Porter, were shaken up and bruised in a collision between a street car and an automobile on Cherokee avenue, near Bryant street, early in the afternoon.

The automobile, driven by J. H. Porter, was following the street car operated by Motorman W. A. Goodwin, northward on Cherokee avenue. The street car stopped to receive passengers when Porter drove into the rear end of it, according to the report of Patrolman J. E. McDaniel.

In another accident disclosed by police reports, an unidentified girl was struck down and injured slightly by a truck driven by M. O. Freeman, of Doraville, Ga., about 11 o'clock Monday morning.

According to the report made to police by Freeman, the little girl was apparently about nine years old. "I was going east on Harris street, crossing Peachtree street," he said, "when the amber light came on. The little girl ran across in front of my car and fell down. I immediately parked my car and hurried to where she had fallen, but she had disappeared."

Mrs. Haygood Clark, of 53 The Prado, had her leg mashed between her automobile and a car projecting into the street. As she was getting out of her car the projecting end was struck by the auto of John Haglitz, who was in the Atlanta Trust Company building. Mrs. Clark was painfully, though not seriously injured.

Atlanta Leader In Office Space, Palmer States

The growing importance of the office building "industry" to Atlanta was forcefully portrayed by C. F. Palmer, president of Palmer, in a recent speech before the Atlanta real estate board. According to Mr. Palmer, Atlanta has 2,382,243 square feet of office space.

Office buildings are to Atlanta," stated Mr. Palmer, who is the head of the organization owning and operating the Palmer building, the Glen building and 101 Marietta street, "what furniture is to Grand Rapids and what automobiles are to Detroit."

This is the greatest office building city in the world. Here is the proof: based on the 1920 census for the United States and taking the number of square feet of office space to each person in a city, of the 20 leading municipalities, Los Angeles was first with 12.9 per capita and Atlanta second with 11.6 per capita. New York is approximately 40 per cent of Atlanta is colored, and so that comparison is unfair because the colored race does not come into the market for office space at least such as we have under consideration. Let us take our white population only and we then find the four per capita of office space runs 19.5 for every individual, which is way ahead of Los Angeles with 12.9; Chicago with 5.2; New York with 4.6; or even San Francisco with 11.5.

Nineteen and a half square feet of office space for every white individual in our city puts us so far ahead of other cities that we stand head and shoulders in front of the group as the leader in America, which is of course the world. The average amount of space per capita throughout the office building cities of the country is between four and five square feet, which even more clearly emphasizes our place with 19.5.

Mr. Palmer also made the prediction that Atlanta would be ready for new office buildings about the year 1930, basing this on figures showing the percentage of vacancies and the constantly growing population of the city. Figures were given indicating a marked improvement in this field. There are now only 12.4 per cent of vacancies as against January, 1927, with 13.2 per cent, January, 1926, 15.78 per cent and January, 1925, with 20 per cent, he stated.

"Speaking for the Palmer properties alone," concluded Mr. Palmer, "our percentage of vacancies in office space is lower than that of both years and we anticipate that this fall and winter we may have difficulty in maintaining an even slight percentage of vacancies, which is eminently desirable to take care of the expanding needs of present tenants. Talking with the executives who have their headquarters in our buildings, I find that they are uniformly optimistic over business prospects and are looking forward to pronounced business activity with the coming of cooler weather."

Atlantans See One of Bennett Racing Balloons

Easily drifting in a general southerly direction, one of the Gordon Bennett international cup race balloons passed over Atlanta Monday morning, and was later reported seen at Wrightsville, Ga., still flying high and carrying a large amount of ballast.

Reports were also current that another of the balloons passed over Atlanta late Sunday night.

Charles McGrew and Fred L. Beers, deputy United States court clerks, told

The Constitution that they saw a balloon passing over Hapeville about 8 o'clock Monday morning, while they were on their way to the clerk's offices. Mr. McGrew said that the balloon was apparently about 1,000 feet above the ground, and from where he saw it appeared to be of approximately the diameter of the moon.

One of the balloons had been reported over Blairsville just before dark Sunday night, and it was believed that this was the balloon that passed here in the night, although identifying marks could not be seen on the big bag.

Airplane Pilots Douglas Davis and Beeler Hevins circled around the balloon that passed Hapeville at 8 o'clock Monday morning, but were unable to establish communication with the craft. Two pilots rode the balloon, and were not in any trouble that could be seen, it was reported.

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Briery's house for luncheon Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend, Olive Weston, that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Sandle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Briery of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Briery, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Sandle. Querk suggests to Sandle that he invite Briery to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's tool, Wode, dispose of Briery.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and goes to investigate. She sees Mr. Sandle and another man kill Mr. Briery, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and calls him to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene and in exasperation Connie goes to see Olive who believes her story.

Querk requests Sandle to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi, which the police officer accepts. The two men then proceed to Wode's office where old man Turle and his son, the spurious heir, await them. The old man dies just after they walk into the office and Sandle and Querk leave by the back door.

The next morning Connie Elmore calls on Querk and meets young Jones, posing as Henry Turle, Jr., in the lawyer's office.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

OLIVE GROWS UNEASY.

Sandle gasped as Querk unfolded his plan.

"That means imprisonment for life for the girl!"

"As a student of criminology," said Querk, "I have no right to trespass upon the domain of moral philosophy. But I might just say this, Sandle: Once the conscience is lulled to sleep, it can never afford to awaken."

"Ah, I know there can be turning back," said Sandle. "But do you know the routine? It isn't easy to get a person committed to an asylum nowadays. We want the order signed by a relative or friend—and if you can't get that you have to show good reason why you're not getting it."

Querk nodded.

"I have the law of the subject just here," he said and tapped with his finger tips upon the ample front of his waistcoat. "And—er—talking of the law, my dear Sandle, I am afraid you will have to invoke its aid in the protection of your reputation."

"Eh? What?" Sandle blinked in incomprehension.

"This morning that unhappy young lady sent a detailed statement to Scotland Yard accusing you of murder. She has made similar statements to her friend, Miss Olive Weston, presumably to Briery, her fiancé, and for all you know, to all her friends and acquaintances. I need hardly remind you that she has perpetrated a criminal libel."

"Yes, but—the police aren't taking any action, are they?"

"Why harp on the police?" challenged Querk. "You have your reputation to consider. I strongly advise you to prosecute the lady for criminal libel. And as I am her solicitor, it would be, I think, best for you to send me a letter at your very earliest convenience informing me of your intention to do so forthwith."

"Very well," said Sandle dully.

With a kindly word to Wode, Querk returned to his office, signed the checks for Sandle and Sandle told his clerk to send his chauffeur to pick him up at his club at 2 o'clock. After a leisurely lunch, he drove in his car to Harrowby house, where for some five minutes he favored Mrs. Jones with affable conversation. He made as if to leave when that which he had confidently expected duly happened.

"Excuse me, sir. Can I ask you something?"

"By all means, Mrs. Jones. What can I do for you?"

Mrs. Jones was a bent little woman with a withered face from which faded blue eyes looked wistfully out. She rolled up a corner of her apron and nervously unrolled it. Her manner showed excitement.

"Miss Elmore was here this morning, sir. She told me she had seen my son, whom I haven't seen or heard of for 13 years."

"O, indeed! I congratulate you, Mrs. Jones."

"In case—in case he's forgotten my address, could you please tell me his, so that I can write to him or go and see him myself?"

Querk glanced down at the caretaker under his pince-nez.

"I do not know your son's address, Mrs. Jones. How should I?"

"O," said Mrs. Jones, crestfallen. "I thought perhaps you would, sir, as Miss Elmore said he seemed to be having business with you, sir."

"Business with me," repeated Querk. "Dear me! We must be at cross purposes somewhere. I have had no business with your son, Mrs. Jones. I have never had the pleasure of seeing the young man in my life. What made you think I had?"

"Haven't you, sir?" There were tears in the old woman's eyes. "There must be some mistake. Miss Elmore said he was waiting in your office."

"O," exclaimed Querk, contriving to look puzzled and a little pained.

ent, the banks can get loans in preparing for the government September 15 deadline for paying for a total of $500,000,000. The stock market, however, turned soft before the opening of the money market.

Wheat prices were also soft. Wheat is down from 16 to 19 cents a bushel. Corn prices were also soft. Last month's high, Cottonseed oil was down from 20 to 19 cents a bushel. The government report is down 235 to 260 points or from $11.75 to $13.25 a bushel from 20 to 24 cents a bushel from last month's high with December below $4 a bushel for the first time since the bidding started in that month in June.

In stocks, wheat, cotton and corn the situation is pretty much the same, with the enormous easy money speculation for the advance was overdone.

In the best informed circles here the feeling is that the advance in call money was entirely to a temporary situation; that no change has taken place in the money market; that there will be a continuation as far as the call money is concerned in abundance of easy money will make for a continuation of speculation in the stock market.

Speculative.

In such quarters, however, it is felt that the conditions exist in our money market make for speculative sentiment which is likely to

In connection with the factor last mentioned, it is pointed out in a banking circles here that speculative Wall street is ignoring possible developments from the situation that has arisen in the Chicago bank a result of the action taken by the federal reserve bank at Chicago against the judgment of the Chicago reserve bank officials. Governor Crissinger of the federal reserve bank at Washington, is quoted as saying that the protests being raised at Chicago and elsewhere against this action taken by the federal reserve board are only a "tempest in the teapot." Without looking very far Mr. Crissinger could find conservative experienced into existence, a central bank functioning through the federal reserve board at Washington which in turn is dominated by the federal reserve bank here in Wall street.

It is not necessary to go very far today to find conservative bankers who are of the opinion that we now have in this country a capital money market, that is a money market dominated by domestic and foreign politics instead of supply and demand. Bankers may be found taking this viewpoint who are not interested in whether or not the rediscount rate at Chicago should have remained at 4 per cent or cut to 3-1/2 per cent. These bankers are however intensely interested in the issue that has been raised as to whether or not the federal reserve board at Washington has the power to establish a central bank and thus defeat the main pur-

GRANT BEGAN THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURG WITH ABOUT 40,000 MEN. HOWEVER, IN ANSWER TO HIS APPEALS, REINFORCEMENTS POURED INTO HIS CAMP UNTIL BEFORE THE SIEGE WAS OVER, HE COULD MUSTER AN ARMY OF NEARLY 75,000. EXPECTING THAT A CONFEDERATE ARMY WOULD

BE SENT TO RAISE THE SIEGE, GRANT FORTIFIED THE REAR OF HIS LINES AS STRONGLY AS THEY WERE IN FRONT, AND POSTED A LARGE FORCE OF TROOPS NORTHEAST OF HAYNES' BLUFF TO INTERCEPT JOHNSTON, IF HE SHOULD ADVANCE ON VICKSBURG.

The Siege of Vicksburg—(Continued), by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

PORTER'S FEDERAL GUNBOAT FLEET WAS GUARDING THE MISSISSIPPI AND ON MAY 27TH MADE AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO SILENCE THE RIVER-BATTERIES OF VICKSBURG. IN THIS ENGAGEMENT THE IRONCLAD "CINCINNATI" WAS RIDDLED AND SUNK.

MEANWHILE GEN. JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON WAS GATHERING A FORMIDABLE CONFEDERATE FORCE AT JACKSON AND CANTON AND WATCHING FOR A FAVORABLE OPPORTUNITY TO MARCH TO PEMBERTON'S RESCUE. BUT THE OPPORTUNITY NEVER CAME, AND WHEN JOHNSTON WAS READY TO SET OUT FOR VICKSBURG IT WAS TOO LATE.

Chicago Mercury Hits 92; Hottest In Bureau Record

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Aid by prevailing southerly winds, the mercury today soared to 92 degrees above in Chicago, the hottest September 12 in the history of the local federal weather bureau.

The record for this date was set in 1915, when the thermometer registered 80. Today's high reading also came within 3 degrees of equalling the all-time September heat record established in 1883. On September 14 of that year the mercury reached 85 above.

No relief was forecast of the present heat wave for several days. Beaches were crowded today, thousands quitting work early in an effort to escape the heat.

The heat wave sent the temperature to as high as 99 in parts of Iowa. Des Moines reported. For the last five days the mercury has been above 95 in Des Moines, two of those days touching 98 and 99, the hottest September 12 in the last fifty years.

Other parts of the Midwest reported similar heat records. In Moline, Ill., it was 93 at 1 p. m., and still getting hotter.

The government weather bureau here reported "fair and warmer" as its forecast for tomorrow, with moderate southerly winds.
